JAPANESE HAND IS SEEN BEHIND NEW MOVEMENT

Briand's Proposal at Geneva May Be Basis for Negotiations

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Launching of a virile movement for Manchurian independence from China was reported today through Japanese sources.

The independence move also followed Japan's withdrawal of objections to American participation in the Geneva discussions seeking to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute between China and Japan over the latter's occupation of southern Manchuria.

Observers expected to see, in various independence movements, the hand of Japanese militarists and imperialists seeking Japanese domination of Manchuria without resorting to military force.

At Geneva, Aristide Briand's "trader's proposal" for Oriental peace was set forth as a possible basis for negotiations and both principals were represented as being more anxious than ever for a speedy settlement.

The independence move followed Japan's withdrawal of objections to American participation at Geneva encouraged Washington to look to the Far East for a settlement of its own difficulties.

Japanese Ambassador Debuchi at Washington predicted that a few more days without hostilities would virtually assure peace.

China awaited a meeting at Shanghai of Nanking government representatives and officials of the insurgent Canton government, which was hailed as a possible means of politically uniting China so that she might face Japan with a solidarity.

MOVEMENT OPENS

Tokio.—(AP)—The latest and apparently most ambitious of a series of "independence" movements by Chinese in Manchuria seeking separation of that domain from China as an outgrowth of the Sino-Japanese controversy was reported in press dispatches from Mukden today.

General Ling In-Ching, formerly of the Manchuria dynasty and now described as "former pacification commissioner of the three northeastern provinces," was named as the head of the new movement.

Long-standing enemy of Chang Tso-Lin, the late Manchurian warlord and Chang Tso-Lin's son and successor, Chang Hsueh-Liang, General Ling was reported rallying troops at Panshanhsien. Rengo News agency (Japanese) said 60,000 already had been mustered and the force was being enlarged for the avowed purpose of establishing a Manchurian regime to displace that of Chang Hsueh-Liang.

Rengo reported significantly that Ling In-Ching's army began moving this morning "in a certain direction," understood to be toward Chinchow, where the remnants of Chang Hsueh-Liang's former Mukden government has been attempting to function.

Many of the independence reports have lacked any substantial basis, but in them authoritative observers professed to see an illustration of the ambition of Japanese military and imperialist elements to bring about Japanese domination of southern Manchuria without resorting to military measures.

Railroads' Petition For Increased Freight Rates Rejected By Commission

Washington.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today denied the railroads permission to increase freight rates throughout the country.

Suggestions were made, however, for specific increases in rates upon designated commodities during a limited period.

These suggestions were conditioned upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the carriers for pooling of revenue accruing from the suggested increases.

This action, said the commission, is "primarily to enable them to meet their fixed interest payments as they mature."

The commission recommended a charge of $3 a car be fixed on some commodities, $6 a car on others and 1 and 2 cents for hundred pounds on various other products.

The commodities that would be increased $3 a car, if the railroads agree to a pooling arrangement, are anthracite and bituminous coal, coke, iron ore, copper ore and concentrates, lead ore and concentrates, zinc ore and concentrates, ores and concentrates not otherwise specified, commercial gravel and sand, stone broken, ground or crushed; all other products of mines, posts, poles and piling, pulp wood, lumber shingles and laths, box, crates and cooperage materials veneer and built up wood, resins, products not otherwise specified except, skids, and sawdust and furnace slag.

The suggested specific rates would be for a limited period and would be primarily to enable the roads "to meet their fixed interest payments as they mature."

The commission attached to a list of products suggested for increases on condition that in no event should the increase levied on any railroad be in excess of 10 per cent of the carload charges which would be assessed in the absence of the increase.

HUCKINS' BONDSMAN FACES LOSS OF $2,500

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—(AP)—W. B. Bryson, Davenport, Iowa, bondsman, has been ordered by Judge John F. Moffitt to appear in court before Nov. 2 to show cause why judgment should not be entered against him for $2,500 bond he posted in behalf of Elmer Huckins, formerly of Hancock, Wis., charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Huckins, who is accused of directing an investment scheme offering participants 26 to 52 per cent dividends, failed to appear in court last Tuesday when his trial was called. Bench warrants were issued by Judge Moffitt for the arrest of Huckins and his son, George, the latter on two additional charges of false pretenses.

George Huckins is now in the Jones-co jail awaiting retrial on the first charge brought against him. He was convicted once, but obtained a retrial from the Iowa Supreme court.

EX-DEACON ON TRIAL IN COLORADO SLAYING

Colorado Springs.—(AP)—Roy G. King, former church deacon, was called to trial today on a charge of slaying Louis "Buddy" Palmer, 19, who was shot to death as he sat in a motor car with King's daughter, Glenda, the night of July 20.

John M. McKie, district attorney, said an extortion plot was involved. King has repudiated a purported confession to police. He was named as the slayer in the last of several statements to authorities by his daughter, who is held as an accessory.

Police said Glenda first reported she had been the victim of a brutal attack at the scene of the crime. A lane on Prospect Lake park, and later had involved two youths, who were questioned and cleared.

Attorneys said that, due to public feeling in the case, selection of a jury probably would require several days.

ROCKEFELLERS ON WAY BACK FROM RANCH HOME

Livingston, Mont.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., left by rail yesterday for their home in New York after a 10-day vacation in Yellowstone and Teton National parks and on their ranch between the parks.

Speaking enthusiastically of their trips into the mountains, Mr. Rockefeller said the weather and "the glorious colors of autumn" had given them an "opportunity seldom afforded to be just one's self."

AKRON ACCEPTED

Washington.—(AP)—Secretary Adams today authorized construction of the airship ZRS-5 and ordered that the Akron be accepted.

LAVAL MAPPING OUT PROGRAM IN UNITED STATES

French Premier to Meet Hoover Half Way in Discussions, He Says

S. S. de France.—(AP)—Premier Pierre Laval of France, on his way to Washington to talk with President Hoover, made it clear today that he is willing to meet the president half way on any proposals he may make, so long as they are acceptable to the French parliament.

And, if he can get a promise of American cooperation which would justify from the French standpoint cutting down the outlay on armaments, his attitude in the negotiations at Washington will be increased.

In this connection, it is understood, he is ready to propose an agreement that in case of war involving either country, neither would permit its resources to be used against the other.

A "consultative pact" has been suggested as a description for such an agreement but the French idea is that it would be of a very definite character and possibly would include other powers as signatories. Then, in case France, the United States, or any other signatory should be attacked, no neutral power included in the agreement would aid the aggressor by furnishing him munitions or other supplies. The Hague court would decide which was the aggressor.

Premier Laval had in his pocket today two plans for discussion with President Hoover when he reaches Washington.

Although he would not discuss them, it was learned they were prepared in collaboration with his experts and that they are outlined in such a way as to embrace both minimum and maximum possibilities for Franco-American action.

Financial and political proposals have not been coupled together, it was understood, but are intended for consideration separately. These have been based upon data provided by an extensive collection of statistics collected by the French experts for use by the premier in his talks with the president.

It was emphasized that M. Laval is going to Washington with an open mind, but keeping before him his duty to France.

NAME OF EDISON IS OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Madison.—(AP)—The world has always mispronounced the name of Thomas A. Edison, notwithstanding his efforts to have it pronounced correctly, Miss Martha J. Edison of Madison, a second cousin of the famous inventor, said today.

The name should be pronounced with a long "E," as if it were "Edison," she said.

"Thomas in his younger days, often insisted that the name be pronounced correctly, but later abandoned his efforts to change a custom that had become so firmly established," Miss Edison said.

BLUENOSE IS WINNER

Halifax, N. S.—(AP)—The Bluenose of Lunenburg, N. S., today won the International Fishermen's trophy, emblematic of the champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleet by defeating the Gloucester challenger, Gertrude L. Thebaud.

Academy Cheers Hoover But City Officials Are Absent

Annapolis, Md.—(AP)—President Hoover received a rousing welcome from the Annapolis midshipmen today but the city of Annapolis as such did not participate.

Presidential salutes rang out as Mr. Hoover debarked from the battleship Arkansas and entered the grounds of the naval academy. Another salute boomed as the party left the academy grounds.

More than 2,000 Annapolis citizens made up the crowd assembled about the academy, but when Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commandant of the naval academy, called for Mayor Walter Questedt just before the arrival of the president, he was informed the Annapolis executive was not present.

Questedt yesterday wrote to President Hoover protesting the failure of the chief executive to recognize an official welcoming party from Annapolis as Mr. Hoover traveled to that city to board the ship last Saturday.

In making known that he had written such a letter, the mayor said plans for the city's participation in ceremonies welcoming the president upon his arrival today had been abandoned.

Works in Bank

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Allan Hoover, second son of the president, has chosen banking as his profession and accepted "a low clerical position so that he may learn the profession by actual experience in all departments."

The Security First National bank here announced the employment of young Hoover yesterday. He was graduated from Stanford university in 1929 and from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration last June.

Man Killed, Dozen Hurt In Explosion

Milwaukee.—(AP)—One man was killed and a dozen were injured today when a dynamite blast rocked the Jones Island sewage disposal plant in Milwaukee harbor.

The dynamite was on a scow moored near the plant. The scow was blown up, hundreds of windows in the sewage plant were shattered and dozens of workers were knocked down.

Timothy Shea, 38, Duluth, Minn., clerk employed by Merritt, Chapman and Whitney, was killed. Eight men were given treatment in hospitals and others were given first aid at the plant.

The firm of Merritt, Chapman and Whitney was repairing a rumble mound at breakwater. Oscar Denone, superintendent of operations, was taken into custody by police.

Eugene Hackett, chief of the Milwaukee Fire Prevention bureau, said that he had ordered the dynamite scow towed from the shore to a point close to the breakwater where Denone's home is at Bay City, Mich.

Cause of the blast was unknown early today. The detonation shook the down town area and was heard in distant suburbs.

JANESVILLE TAX RATE IS $20 PER THOUSAND

Janesville.—(AP)—Janesville's 1931 tax rate last night was reduced to $20 per thousand after the city council adopted a vigorous paring of the budget submitted by City Manager Henry Traxler. The new rate is the lowest since 1913, and represents a 9 per cent reduction from the rate effective the last four years.

SECURITIES MARKETS MAKE BRISK ADVANCES

New York.—(AP)—Securities markets pushed forward confidently again today, overcoming the hesitancy of the past two sessions.

The bond market was the strongest in several days. The U. S. government issues were in demand, and the Japanese issues, which broke sharply yesterday, quickly recovered.

In shares, advances of $2 to $5 were numerous, and trading was in substantial volume. For a time, the ticker was unable to keep up with transactions.

Good buying was said in brokerage circles to be coming from both domestic and foreign sources. The odd lot transactions were in such volume as to indicate renewed interest on the part of small investors.

SENATOR NYE WOULD FIX PRICE OF WHEAT

Washington.—(AP)—Legislation to fix the price of wheat and other staple farm commodities is being drafted by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota. Under the bill which Nye announced today, congress would authorize purchase through the farm board at $1.25 a bushel the first 2,000 bushels of wheat raised by each farmer.

OPINION ISSUED ON FIRE WARDENS' PAY

Madison.—(AP)—The state conservation commission was advised today by Deputy Attorney General F. M. Wile that emergency fire wardens appointed upon recommendation of the town chairman and men employed by such wardens are to be paid half by the state and half by the county.

U.S. Prison System Hit By Minister

Baltimore.—(AP)—The Rev. Christian F. Relsner declared today in an address before the American Prison association here that the American prison system is pagan and more conducive to crime than to correction.

"The prison should be a hospital," he said. "Then it would send out its patients cured. Instead, 42 per cent of them return. Severity and inhuman treatment have contributed to crime by sending out victims so hardened that they easily take up violent lawlessness."

"Study the effect of the Baumes law in New York. The criminal population of New York increased from 1,598 in 1923 to 6,618 in 1930, a jump of 10 per cent."

"Can anyone wonder at the terrible riot in the Ohio penitentiary? It was built to hold 2,184 inmates but 4,315 were crowded into it. From 1,200 to 2,000 spent 24 hours a day in sullen idleness; the workshops were overfull."

"Deture the prisons where the innocent and guilty, the clean and the who are herded together for months at a time. No exercise, little fresh air, sheer idleness and indescribable conditions. They are shut away from all mellowing influences."

"And the investigate the prison guards who dominate over them and enforce many heartless rules. Seventy-five per cent of these guards can set no other jobs. They stay brief hours. The pay offered attracts few who are capable of being moral nurses. The new day is offering training for prison guards."

TIFF OVER MUDHEN LEADS TO SHOOTING

Hunter in Oshkosh Hospital After Quarrel With Milwaukee Man

Oshkosh.—(AP)—Samuel Mattson, 40, was in a hospital here today, the result of shotgun wounds suffered yesterday during an argument over a mudhen while hunting. While the wounds were not serious, he said he planned to make charges against his assailant, a Milwaukee man.

William Bouschett, Oshkosh, who witnessed the shooting, said they were hunting Sunday afternoon near Oshkosh. The two shot at the mudhen, both claiming it. Mattson started rowing toward the mudhen and the Milwaukeean called out: "Here, if you pick up that mudhen, I'll shoot you. It's mine."

Mattson reached to pick up the mudhen and the man fired. He fled and drove away in his automobile. Bouschett jotted down the license number.

ACTION DEFERRED ON CALENDAR REFORM

Geneva.—(AP)—Except for possible stabilization of the date of Easter, celebration today passed into history again today after the adjournment of the international calendar reform conference.

The conference adopted a declaration favoring fixing the Easter date, but decided to postpone a general simplification of the calendar. The Sunday after the second Saturday in April was preferred by most of the delegates for the fixed Easter and the league of nations was asked to transmit the recommendation to the Christian churches.

The council was asked to reply by April 10, 1932, on the churches' attitudes.

FETES AT YORKTOWN BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Yorktown, Va.—(AP)—The Yorktown sesquicentennial anniversary celebration today passed into history that records the event which it refreshed in the memory of the nation.

Four days devoted to a gigantic celebration designed to recall those stirring times of 150 years ago at Yorktown came to their end yesterday in the presence of President Hoover who delivered the address of the occasion.

The address was "The Significance of Yorktown" depicting the surrender of Cornwallis to Washington and the French allies on the heights of the town Oct. 19, 1781.

RICHARD DIX TO WED CALIFORNIA HEIRESS

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Richard Dix and Miss Winifred Cox, 23, daughter of Winfield Scott Cox, wealthy retired wholesale grocer of San Francisco, plan to be married, probably in December. Their engagement was revealed in a studio announcement.

"I met Miss Cox about five years ago at the home of my parents," Dix said, "and although we corresponded irregularly, we did not meet again until about a month ago here in Los Angeles. That was the beginning of our real romance."

FOUR GUNMEN STAGE HOLDUP IN MENOMONIE

Son of Bank President Kidnaped and Shot—One Bandit Killed by Bullet

ANOTHER MAN WOUNDED

Machine Gun Raiders Get About $10,000 After Intimidating 16 Persons

Menomonee, Wis.—(AP)—An assistant cashier and a robber were killed as four machine gun raiders looted the Kraft State bank here of an undetermined amount of money today.

James Kraft, 19, son of W. F. Kraft, president of the bank, was kidnapped and slain by the robbers, while W. R. Kraft, 22, another son, was wounded, perhaps seriously, because he could not point out where more money was.

The robber was killed by shots fired at the car in which the quartet sped out of town after spraying the street near the bank with machine gun bullets.

Bank officials said a hurried check indicated the robbers took about $10,000 after overpowering 16 persons in the bank, including six customers. All were forced to lie on the floor.

The bodies of James Kraft and the robbers were found on the highway six miles from here by possumen who followed the raiders out of town.

The younger Kraft had been shot. Officers believed he was slain in reprisal after pursuing bullets killed their companion.

James Kraft, at work with his brother, was not missed until after the robbers fled. The latter were forced to hurry because Vernon T. Mearns, bank guard, set off a burglar alarm and began firing at the waiting car, where one man sat with a machine gun.

Held as Hostage

Officers believe Kraft was kidnapped in the belief having him would make possible a safe escape. The robbers, after dumping the two bodies from their car continued to flee.

As the car sped away one occupant was heard to cry that he was shot. Edward Trinko, who had fired six shots, said he broke a window in the rear of the car. Officers said the manner in which the robber was wounded is indicated by the one shot as the car fled, while Kraft was slain later.

The father of the young men had made preparations he believed would avert bloodshed should the bank be held up. Townsend, who commanded a view of the bank interior, from a bulletproof cage on a balcony, was told to should press an alarm button then to go to the safe and fetch the money. He did this but the car was so parked he could fire only at the rear. He believed he punctured the gasoline tank.

Shot While Lying Prone

W. R. Kraft, 23, assistant cashier, was struck in the chest by a pistol bullet while he lay prone on the floor for 10 other bank employees crouching with the robbers. As the men left after the robbery, they held Mrs. Alice Schaefer, another bank employee, ahead of them as a shield and forced James Kraft, 21, into their automobile.

They drove out of Menomonee as sheriff's deputies and citizens, summoned by the bank alarm, fired shots in answer to bullets from the holdup car. One of the men in the automobile had machine gun.

R. A. Rommeyer, assistant cashier, said one of the men entered the bank shortly after 9 o'clock a. m. and shoved a gun at him, ordering him to lie down.

"I lost no time in following orders as did the other bank employees. Two other armed men came in side," said Mr. Kraft to open the safe and as they searched it, forced him to join us on the floor."

"Suddenly one of the men turned to him and asked him where all the money was. He said he didn't know. Then a shot splattered from an automatic. William was struck and wounded badly."

The men then forced Mrs. Schaefer and James to accompany them outside. They put James in the car and drove away.

Rommeyer said the bank alarm was sounded as soon as the men entered and Sheriff I. L. Harmon was notified.

WALKER'S AID AWAITS TWO PROCESS SERVERS

Mexico City.—(AP)—Russell T. Sherwood, personal accountant of Mayor Walker of New York, awaited today the arrival of two process servers from New York with no signs of perturbation.

The New York emissaries were due this afternoon by airplane from Brownsville, Texas, and Sherwood said he would not make any attempt to avoid them.

The reason for the arrival of these two men, said to be bringing subpoenas from the New York legislative investigating committee, remained somewhat of a mystery here and the legality of their attempting to serve papers directly on Sherwood is doubted.

Oleo Law To Be Enforced Against Wholesalers, Manufacturers

STIFF BATTLE FORECAST IN STATE COURTS

Chief Chemist Also Advised to Accept Fees from Retailers

Madison — (AP) — Notwithstanding the attack upon the constitutionality of the 1931 oleomargarine license tax law, Harry Kluefer, chief chemist of the department of agriculture and markets, has been advised by the attorney general's office to enforce the provision against wholesalers and manufacturers and to accept voluntary offerings of license fees from retailers. Circuit Judge A. C. Zimmerman recently granted an injunction against the operation of that part of the law imposing a tax upon oleomargarine retailers. He found that tax to be so widely varied according to the amount of oleo sold, and so productive of revenues as to be prohibitory.

He did not restrain the state department, however, from licensing the manufacturers and wholesalers and the hotels, restaurants and boarding houses that serve oleomargarine. He raised no objections to uniform license taxes imposed against them.

The adult given Kluefer by Deputy Attorney General F. M. Wyle, indicates that when the case comes up for hearing on merits in the near future a stiff battle is to be made by the state to keep the law as a whole intact.

So far the oleomargarine interests have the advantage. Wisconsin retailers do most of the trading in the product and if Judge Zimmerman makes his injunction permanent, and it is sustained in higher courts, all the teeth will have been taken from the 1931 law. Wholesalers and manufacturers can do their business outside the state.

Retailers Not Immune
Wyle informed Kluefer that Zimmerman's injunction affords the retailers no immunity from liability for failure to take out a license and pay the required fees if the act eventually should be held unconstitutional. He therefore advised Kluefer to accept any fees voluntarily tendered by retailers.

He also advised the chief chemist that department officials cannot be held personally liable for collecting fees from the other classes of oleo dealers should the law be held inoperative in the end, because they have to be paid into the state treasury.

A short time ago the state department made arrangements to compile a list of oleomargarine retailers.

Judge Zimmerman specifically restrained publishing such a list on the ground it would amount to an unfair trade practice against the oleomargarine industry. Wyle informed Kluefer that information may be secured, pending the suit, as to what retailers are dealing in oleo without violating the injunction.

The case will next come up for hearing before Judge Zimmerman probably upon motion of Attorney Ralph Jackman, Madison, representative of the oleomargarine interests to make the injunction permanent.

APPLETON DOCTORS AT MEDICAL MEETING

Most Appleton doctors will attend some of the sessions of the International Assembly of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Association of North America in Milwaukee this week.

The assembly, which was originally organized for Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa medical men, has in recent years become a gathering of international proportions, and now is one of the most significant medical meetings of the world. Famous doctors from Germany, France, England and other European countries, address the group, and the most learned medical of the country appear on the program.

Those who are at the meeting now or plan to attend are Doctors C. E. Ryan, E. F. Mielke, E. W. Cooney, E. F. McGrath, J. L. Benton, Carl D. Naidhoff, Victor F. Marshall, M. Swanton, George T. Heger, G. A. Ritchie, G. W. Carlson.

Jobs Graft Is Revealed In Chicago

Chicago — (AP) — Investigation of alleged wholesale bartering of jobs and promotions in the city fire and police departments at a reputed profit of more than $100,000 was underway today.

Led by state's Attorney John A. Swanson, the police and civil service commission were cooperating in the inquiry first revealed last night with announcement of the arrest of Wilbur J. McGinness, a former civil service board employee. McGinness, an attorney, was arrested last Thursday by Lieut. William Blaul of the state's attorney's staff, and held incommunicado while under questioning. He was reported to have admitted to detectives his share of the proceeds was between $50,000 and $60,000 over the last six years.

Identities of McGinness' associates were not revealed but investigators said several men of political prominence would be drawn into the case. Regular rates, ranging from $1,000 to $3,000 covering positions from patrolman to lieutenant in the police department and corresponding ranks in the fire department, were fixed, state's attorneys staff members said. McGinness was alleged to have been contact man dealing directly with aspirants for positions or promotions.

Complaints on the list of patrolmen eligible to become sergeants and from men who had paid installments on their job buying fees led to the investigation, which was conducted in strict secrecy.

At least thirty members of the two departments entered the city service through graft, Lieut. Blaul said, and the number may run higher.

PLAN DECORATIONS FOR CHARITY GAME

Division Decides to Aid Legion for Grid Classic on Armistice Day

Flags and other appropriate decorations will be displayed by Appleton merchants on Nov. 11, Armistice day, when Appleton and Kaukauna high schools play a charity football game here on George A. Whiting field, it was decided Monday morning by the chamber of commerce retail division at a meeting in the chamber offices.

The division's action was prompted by receipts of a letter from Herb Heblis, principal of Appleton high school, and commander of the Oney Johnson post, American legion. In his letter Mr. Heblis urged that the division lend its cooperation to the American legion posts and high schools of both cities which are working to make the event a success.

In behalf of legionnaires he also requested that stores be closed on the afternoon of the event, but the division decided that unless such a closing was a statewide event it would probably be impossible for Appleton merchants to indorse the closing proposal. No action was taken in the matter.

TWO RURAL SCHOOLS REPORT ATTENDANCE

Twenty-three pupils of Riverview rural school, town of Cleora, were neither absent nor tardy during September, according to a report received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Miss Grace Prentice is teacher of the school. Pupils with the perfect records are: Kathryn Jackovich, Merle Armitage, Ruth Dudek, Margaret Hintz, Arthur Laehn, Helen Stegder, Earl Bradley, Byron Scott, Elleen Keenan, Esther Laehn, Glen Carter, Cyril Schmall, Robert Scott, Marion Hintz, Audrey Keenan, Walter Laehn, George Scott, Elizabeth Bradley, Dora Rubin, Janet Elizabeth, Jack Rubin, Jr., Kenneth Scott and Raymond Hintz.

Edward Lecker was the only student of the Columbia rural school, town of Grand Chute, to have a perfect attendance record last month. Miss Caroline Kauth is teacher of the school.

DR. KAHLBERG TO ADDRESS SOCIETY

Dr. Louis Kahlenberg of the University of Wisconsin will address the Northeast Wisconsin section of the American Chemical Society at its fall meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the opera house at Kewaunee. Dr. Kahlenberg's subject will be "The Life and Contributions of the Great Chemist, Michael Faraday." The lecture will be of a popular nature, illustrated by lantern slides.

The Northeast Wisconsin section of the society was organized a year ago for the purpose of promoting interest in chemistry. It presents once each month during the winter an address by some well known chemist. The membership of the organization is made up of many industrial chemists and teachers and students in various educational institutions of the Fox river valley. The Kewaunee meeting is the first to be held outside of Appleton.

BOY SCOUT BOARD TO DISCUSS CLUB PROGRAM

The quarterly meeting of the valley council boy scout executive board will be held at 6:15 Wednesday evening at Hotel Northern, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Sea Scouting, the Cub program, extension of council territory, and organization of new troops will be discussed by the board.

FORTUNE-HUNTING TRIP OF BOYS IS CUT SHORT HERE

A fortune-hunting trip to the west was cut short here yesterday afternoon for two Navarino boys, 15 and 16 years old, when they were taken into custody by police and held pending the arrival of their parents. The boys had run away from home, they told the police, and intended to go west. To enable them to do so they took along a .22 calibre rifle which they packed with some miscellaneous items of clothing in a small suitcase.

SAYS SON TRIED TO KILL SELF FOR WIFE

Superior Woman Testifies for Man Held for Murder in New York

New York — (AP) — The love of Roy Schuster, a dancing instructor, was so intense that he once attempted suicide, "to please" the estranged wife for whose murder he is on trial, his mother, Mrs. C. H. Schuster of Superior, Wis., testified yesterday.

The defendant's mother said she visited the young couple here in July, 1930. She said she went out one day to buy some ice cream and returned to find the front door locked.

When Mrs. Schuster gained entry with the assistance of the janitor she said she saw Roy in the kitchen with his head in an oven in which the gas jets were open. After he was revived, his "sweetheart, I love you, I am doing this to please you."

A few days earlier, Mrs. Schuster testified her son's wife threw a plate of rolls and a bottle of milk at him. A few days afterward, she said, she told her daughter-in-law to attempt to please Roy and not fight with him.

"Mother Schuster, I know Roy better than you do. I know if I make a lot of trouble, Roy will kill himself," the witness quoted her daughter-in-law as saying.

Schuster is charged with shooting his wife fatally in the office of her attorney, Israel Siegel, on May 2 last. His wife had threatened to have him sent to jail for failure to pay alimony while her suit for divorce was pending.

The defendant's sister, Mrs. Florence Hoover of Chicago, testified he made her beneficiary of a $10,000 life insurance policy, transferred from the name of his wife, with the request that she save most of the money for his daughter, Colleen, if anything happened.

Mrs. Schuster was a former Boscomb, Wis., girl and formerly attended the Milwaukee State Teachers' college.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS CALL OCTOBER MEETING

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their October meeting Thursday evening at the association building. They will hear a report on membership activities, the annual association member drive having recently been completed. Employed officers also will submit reports. The fall and winter program will be discussed.

PARKER IS FINED

H. B. Peterson, 375 Naymut-st, Menasha, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of parking his car in a restricted area on College-ave yesterday. He was arrested by Officer Adna Thomack.

Heart Disease Is Being Curbed Among Adolescents

Milwaukee — (AP) — More cases of heart disease are noted in current obituary notices for middle aged persons because medical agencies have cheated death of its former toll among adolescents.

Dr. Louis Hamman of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, reading a paper on heart disease mortality, presented the foregoing explanation last night before the international assembly of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Association of North America in session here.

"People must die from something or other," he said. "They survive many diseases which years ago killed young people by the score, but finally succumb when the most vital organ, the heart, cracks under the strain of living."

Tuberculosis, which in 1900 led the list of death causes with 201,2 victims per 100,000 population, has been largely brought under control, Dr. Hamman pointed out. The mortality rate in that year from heart disease was 132.1 per 100,000.

Twenty-five years later, he said, tuberculosis killed only 88.6 per 100,000 and was fifth among causes, while heart disease climbed into first place with 185.5 per 100,000.

"In other words," Dr. Hamman said, "many diseases from which young persons died yesterday ago have gradually succumbed to systematic preventive medical treatment."

High blood pressure, probably engendered by the stress of modern life, is the present day evil which brings the names of middle aged men and women among the death notices, the speaker said.

Dr. Hamman predicted that in 25 years heart disease would lose its lead of all death causes, providing the public will respond to teachings in properly adjusting itself in terms of eating and exercise to environment. He said longevity will then have advanced to between 65 and 75 before heart disease claims its large number of victims.

Recent diagnostic discoveries in the sciences of medicine and surgery today were to be explained to more than 4,000 medical practitioners and nurses attending the five day session. The list of 22 speakers on the program included Dr. William C. Morgan of the Georgetown University School of Medicine in Washington; Dr. John F. Erdmann, Columbia University, New York, and Dr. Gordon B. New of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Henry A. Christian of the Harvard school said it was his opinion many cases of inefficiency among city workers is due to noises and consequent loss of restful sleep. The clatter of street car wheels and needless honking of automobile horns are among disturbances he described a distinct menace to health.

Adversity and unemployment, Dr. Christian said, often are beneficial to the individual even though the unfortunate persons may fret over "hard times" and inactivity.

"Hard times like these," he said, "the unemployed eat less rich food, but if their condition becomes acute they may suffer nervous and physical exhaustion."

CONTINUE TESTIMONY IN STATUTORY CASE

Trial of William Van Gompel, town of Vandenberg, on a statutory charge, was being continued in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning. The case opened yesterday and the prosecution was still presenting testimony this morning. Van Gompel was arrested in August with Lester Mitchell, Appleton, on complaint of two Vandenberg girls. The girls charge the men agreed to take them home from a dance in Oneida and that they were attacked on the way. An attempt was made to have Van Gompel and Mitchell tried together but this motion was denied by the court. Mitchell's trial is set for Wednesday morning.

FOUR LUTHERAN PASTORS GOING TO CONFERENCE

Rev. Sauer, Brandt, Ziesemer and Froehke to Attend Sessions

Four Lutheran pastors will attend the meeting of the Fox River Valley conference of the Wisconsin synod at Wrightstown Tuesday and Wednesday. The Reverends T. J. Sauer and F. M. Brandt of St. Paul church and R. E. Ziesemer of Mount Olive Lutheran church will be present at all sessions, while Phillip A. C. Froehke, pastor of the St. Matthew church, will attend the evening service on Tuesday.

The tenth anniversary of the dedication of Mount Olive church was observed Sunday with a special service at which the Rev. Walter Pankov of New London preached on the text, "Behold, I Know Thy Works." The speaker contrasted the accolade received by those who do the unusual worldly things and the honor bestowed upon those in the ranks of the lowly and reminded the congregation that the lowly would receive their reward in the hereafter. A quarterly meeting of the congregation in the afternoon concluded the anniversary program.

The Rev. F. M. Brandt preached on "The Preparation for the Marriage Supper of the Lord at St. Paul church Sunday. The congregation held a business meeting in the afternoon.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison preached at the Marinette Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and as a representative of the Wisconsin Synod, declared the pulpit vacant. The Rev. L. C. Smith, former pastor, has gone to Abbotsford. The Rev. George V. R. Shepard of LaCrosse occupied the pulpit at the local church Sunday.

Cornerstone Laid

About 500 persons attended the service which marked the laying of the cornerstone for the New First English Lutheran church Sunday afternoon. The principal speaker was the Rev. L. E. Gast of Green Bay. Other pastors who took part in the service were the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor of the church, the Rev. E. Koch and the Rev. L. Oberleiter of Oshkosh and the Rev. J. Wagner of West De Pere. The 120th Field Artillery band furnished the music. Mr. Reuter preached on The Glory of the Church of Christ at the morning service. About 20 members of First English church attended a meeting of laymen of the Oshkosh group of the Wisconsin district of the American Lutheran church at Oshkosh Monday evening.

The Rev. George Casey, Stevens Point priest, will be the speaker at the Landing Day banquet to be sponsored jointly by the Father Fitzmaurice and Nicolet councils of the Knights of Columbus Tuesday evening.

Fifty new members were admitted to the Third Order of St. Francis Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph church. The Rev. Basil Gummerman of Detroit, Mich., talked on St. Francis of Assisi.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. Franz and members of the First Reformed congregation will attend the annual spiritual conference of the central group of congregations at the Sheboygan classes at Oshkosh on Tuesday, Oct. 27. The new mission study book, God and the Census, will be introduced at a joint meeting of the Appleton and Kaukauna missionary societies at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. The Ladies Aid and young people of the church will sponsor a box social Friday evening.

The Rev. W. R. Wetzeler preached on Our Harvest Feast at both the English and German services at St. John church, where the annual Harvest Home Festival was celebrated.

Religion Is Emotion

Religion as the great emotion that brings unity and means to life was the subject of the sermon preached Sunday morning at the Congregational church by Dr. H. E. Peabody. Elmer Dunn led the discussion of the Five Year Plan in Russia at the meeting of the Men's club in the morning, and Dr. A. H. Weston of Lawrence college addressed the young people's group in the evening on the subject, "The Religious Situation in Italy. The first meeting of the young people's musical club will be held Friday evening, and try-outs for the Congregational choral club will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday. The first meeting of the club will be held on Oct. 28, just before the All Church Halloween frolic. The first Sunday evening motion picture service of the season, "Noah's Ark," was presented Sunday evening. Next Sunday the picture will be "The Temples," featuring John Barrymore.

The Rev. D. E. Bosserman of Trinity English Lutheran church talked on The World's Best Motto at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Our Savior's church, Fond du Lac, Friday evening. Sunday morning his subject was Some Rules for the Christian Life. The Sunday School teachers met Monday evening. The Missionary society will meet Tuesday evening, and the Intermediate Luther League Wednesday evening.

A musical program was presented at Emanuel Evangelical church Sunday evening. In the morning the Rev. G. H. Blum preached on The Persecuted. The Rev. Philip Schneider will preside at a quarterly conference Thursday evening.

Need Spiritual Unity

The need for spiritual unity, leadership, and systematic relief work in this period of financial crisis was pointed out by Dr. J. A. Holmes in his sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning. The Calcutta tea, sponsored by the Social Union, will be held Wednesday afternoon, and the first quarterly conference Friday evening. Dr. Charles H. Briggs, district superintendent, will preside.

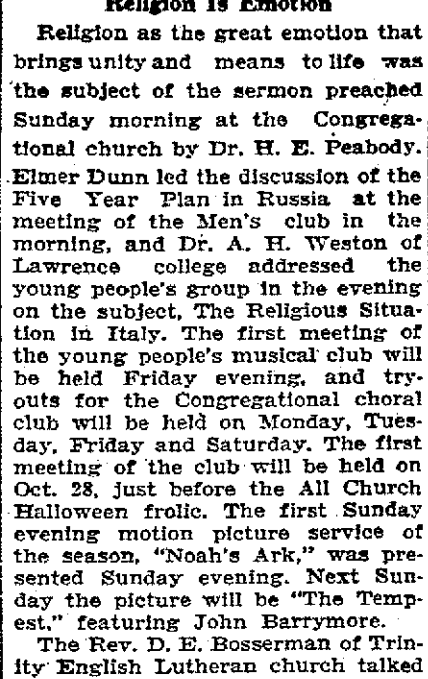

The Lord Is Thy Keeper was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Theodore Marth at Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning. The Zion Lutheran missionary society will meet at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and Thursday evening the men's club will serve a chicken dinner.

The hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross," was the theme of part of the service at the Baptist church Sunday evening. The Rev. Ernest Hasselblad preached on The Silhouette Against the Sky in the evening and on The Awareness of Power at the morning service. The Women's Union met Tuesday afternoon, and tonight the men of the church will hold a dinner. The first meeting of the new Boy Scout troop will be held Friday evening.

Dr. L. D. Utts preached on The Uncompelled Entrance at All Saints church Sunday morning.

Milk Cooperative Members Cannot Cancel Their Contracts

PETITION FROM SMALL GROUP IS KILLED BY CO-OP

Action of Committee Denying Request Approved by Farmers

BY W. F. WINSEY

Shawano — Overwhelming approval was expressed here last night at a mass meeting of 800 members of the Consolidated Badger Cooperative of the action of a special committee in denying a petition from a group of members demanding that the cooperative arrange to release members from their contracts on demand.

The petition asked for the calling of a special meeting and for the adoption of a resolution which would permit members to cancel their contracts at any time without penalty. This petition was referred to a resolutions committee, which killed it, and in turn brought in a substitute measure providing approval of the action of the officers and managers of the cooperative since its organization.

Math Wallich, one of the officers, pointed out that the cooperative could not release its members as the contracts make no provision for such release and the action would be contrary to the laws of the state. The committee followed Mr. Wallich's instructions, turned down the petition, and their action was greeted by a shout of approval from the assembled members.

The cooperative also adopted a resolution providing that a report of the committee be placed on file for inspection of members before Nov. 15. The members also voted to start a drive to increase the deliveries of milk to the Shawano plant of the cooperative.

Caused By Depression

It was brought out by speakers that the reasons for the dissatisfaction of a few of members are the general business depression and that as money could not be borrowed readily, cooperative was forced to do business and supply equipment on the money of the members. This way of supplying equipment and doing business led to lower prices than was expected by some of the members. One speaker declared that if the cooperative could have paid 30 cents more than the prevailing price for butter fat the hardest knockers would have been the biggest boosters.

From an examination of the books of the cooperative and the use of charts H. K. Froker of the college of agriculture showed how much the plants of the cooperative have reduced the cost of making cheese by increasing the volume of milk delivered. He made the investigation, he said, to show what the directors have done.

"While this report is not as complete and accurate as it should be on the business done, it shows that the cooperative has made considerable progress," it shows that the directors have learned how to do business and what the best way is. Members should take into consideration that you have been operating in depressed times and a declining market," he said.

Not Responsible

"The cooperative should not be held responsible for the business depression nor for the price of butter fat the past year," declared Mr. Wallich. "Banks were not in favor of loaning us money and said we were just another cooperative."

"If some of you are dissatisfied with the business done by your cooperative look at the trusted Bank of England and the thousands of banks and business institutions and manufacturing companies that have gone to the wall the past two years."

"The cooperative did a larger business the past year than any other business establishment in Shawano. It will grow much more rapidly than any other business generally improves."

"The idea of your directors was to go slow the past year and to make as few expenditures as possible."

Praise Cooperative

Charles L. Hill, state commissioner of agriculture, who heard the financial reports of the officers and Prof. Froker declared:

"I am very much interested and pleased with the business the Consolidated Badger Cooperative has done the past year. Since I visited Denmark, recently, and saw what farmers' cooperative are doing in that country I am more interested in your cooperative and cooperatives generally than ever before. I wish to congratulate you on the splendid progress you made the past year."

John Brandt, president of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, presented an argument for farmers marketing their own products. He described how easy it is for farmers to be lead away from their cooperatives by people financially interested in the private marketing of farm products.

"Through the private marketing of farm products, 405 men in this country have a greater income than the 6,000,000 farmers," he declared. "And how did they get this income? From the soil and the farmers."

JACES MAKE TOUR OF PAPER COMPANY MILLS

Twenty-five members of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce made a tour through the mills of the Fox River Paper Co., Monday evening. The educational tour was arranged by Ben Laird, head of the committee in charge. It was conducted by William E. Wing, Jr., a member of the organization. Following the tour, directors of the junior chamber retired to the Y. M. C. A. for a business meeting. Reports of various committee heads were reviewed and plans for the fall season were discussed.

PUBLIC AGAIN MAY VIEW SKIES FROM OBSERVATORY HERE

Appleton residents again will have the opportunity this year to observe the movements of the planets. Through the courtesy of Prof. J. S. Mills, director of the Lawrence college observatory, the public will be welcome to visit the observatory every Thursday evening from 7:30 until 9 o'clock.

Professor Mills reports that a number of high school classes throughout the Fox River valley already have visited the observatory.

SCHOOL BAND AND WELSH SINGERS PLEASE AUDIENCE

Old Tales of Highlands and Valleys Relived in Chapel Program

The roving life of Sea Captain John and old tales of Welsh highlands and valleys relived in song Monday night at Lawrence Memorial chapel when the 12 Welsh Imperial Singers presented a uniquely varied program under the direction of Festyn Davies, celebrated conductor and organizer of the group.

Dressed in red coats and buff trousers, the group presented a colorful appearance on the stage as they sang from the lifting folk songs of Ireland and Wales into the close harmony of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and the rhythmic technique of Handel's "Largo" and "The Lost Chord." The solo presentations ranging from the lightness of "Annie Laurie" to the Irish love ballad sung by Harry Williams, tenor, to the theme of Pagliacci in prologue, given by Henry Jones, baritone. Howell Williams, baritone sang "Immortal" by Edwin Walker and "I Pass By Your Window" by Babe Trevor, tenor, gave "Wanton Gales" and "The Wind of Love."

The youngest member of the ensemble, Edwyn Edwards, tenor, who is 13, sang two solos, "Just For Today" and "The Little Silver Wink." The program opened and closed with songs sung in Welsh, the first the stirring national song, "Men of Harlech" and the closing number the "Knower Welsh air, 'Ar hyd y Nos' or 'All Through the Night.'"

In a short curtain speech, Mr. Davies praised the Appleton high school band, which gave a concert preceding the singers' program. He said that it was the most outstanding high school band group he has ever heard in the country. The high school students gave a program which was varied in theme also, including several marches, "Them Busses" by Huffine, Lake's "Le Si-fleur Coquette" and the triumphant "A Los Toros" a piece by Slavs. The "Wedding of the Winds" by Hall, the "Tales of the Past" from Pagliacci and Tschalkowsky's "Andante Cantabile" from the Fifth Symphony were on the high school program.

Civic Council Is Sponsoring Training Course for Volunteers

Appleton Civic Council Monday night decided to ask charitable organizations in the city for names of persons who were interested in social work such as has been contemplated by the Council. The course, it is believed, can be sponsored either in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin extension division or Lawrence college.

Mrs. S. C. Shannon, chairman of the committee investigating possibility of the course, submitted her report. The letters inviting charitable organization workers to take the course now will be issued.

The Council also discussed the progress of relief work in the city and the contemplated drive for funds. The Council will offer its cooperation in the drive in any other manner in which it might aid.

A motion endorsing the proposed adult recreation plan of the Appleton board of education was passed. The board's plan still is in formation period, but it contemplates more general use of school buildings by adults for recreational work.

The idea is similar to that in Milwaukee where a "lighted school house" program of adult education is being carried out.

CLEAR SKIES, COLDER WEATHER PREDICTED

Clear skies with probable frost has been predicted for Appleton and vicinity for Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The mercury is due for a slight rise by Wednesday afternoon following the cold spell, the weatherman says.

Similar predictions have been made throughout the middle west for the next 24 hours. Skies will be partly cloudy in the upper lake regions tonight.

Winds are shifting in the west and southwest. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 42 degrees above zero. During the morning it started to rise and at noon registered 65 degrees above zero.

One building permit was issued Monday by John N. Welland, building inspector. It was granted to William Steiner, 312 W. Main-st., addition to barn, cost $100.

PLENZKE SEES WASHINGTON AS HUMAN BEING

Mythical Stories About First President Should Be Dropped, He Says

A plea for removal of the legendary and mythical stories about George Washington, first president of the United States, and for the substitution of instruction showing Washington was a human being, was made by O. H. Plenzke, assistant state superintendent of schools, and former superintendent of Menasha schools, in an address before the Lions club Monday noon at Conway hotel.

Reminding his audience that the stories most people associate with Washington, are those that he chopped down a cherry tree, never let a lie, threw a dollar across the Potomac, and married a rich widow, Mr. Plenzke said that at heart Washington was a farmer, and not a successful one; that he often failed at things he undertook; but that he must have had some great qualities, for despite his failures he was selected as one of the outstanding men of his time. He was called from retirement to undertake a great task, among others leading the Colonial army and becoming president of the colonies.

"Versatility was one of the characteristics of Washington," Mr. Plenzke said. "He was a soldier, statesman, surveyor, diplomat, and organizer. He was a man of many undertakings, yet he always was called back into the service of his country when there was dire need. Considering the conditions of the time with the great expanse of wilderness, the social life, the geography of the country and diversity of people, Washington's tasks often were the most difficult imaginable."

Was Unhealthy Man

"While the average person imagines Washington as a great, strong, six-foot soldier, he was troubled with numerous ailments which impaired his health. He found need for false teeth early in life, his hearing was poor, his eyes were bad, and he always was the victim of colds. He finally died of pneumonia."

"His military campaigns before the Revolution were not always successful. He wanted to be a farmer, as his large estate at Mt. Vernon indicates. As a farmer he first realized the scientific needs of farming. He experimented with means of combating rust in wheat, invented a type of plow, planted many trees and dabbled in landscaping. He was one of the first men to realize the value of rotating crops, especially where the crop was tobacco, then a medium of barter and trade."

"Washington was one of the first men to see the evils of slavery, pointing out that it just didn't pay. When he died his will stated that on the death of Mrs. Washington his slaves be set free. He also provided a trust fund for them, a fund that ran for 33 years."

"When he married, Washington took for his wife a widow with two children, at least one of which caused much trouble. And although he was far from wealthy, he helped support many relatives, neighbors and almost anyone who appealed to him for help."

Was Poor Farmer

Some people have pointed out Washington as a tax dodger, Mr. Plenzke said. Rather than being a tax dodger, there was a time when he was like other Virginia farmers, too poor to pay taxes because of the embargo on products he ordinarily was shipping to England. During that period, history shows that Virginia spent 18 months collecting but 5 per cent of her taxes. And when Washington became president of the country he borrowed $2,000 to fit himself as a president should be fitted.

Contrary to average opinion, Washington was a self educated man. He had but two years education in schools, but further educated himself by reading and through his contacts. In later years he was considered a well educated man. Washington furnishes a fine example in the benefits of doing something and trying again if the first time isn't successful, the speaker said.

Washington started the first public school, a school for orphan children of Revolutionary soldiers. The school was the first American university.

"Americans think of the army that Washington was called to command at the start of the Revolutionary war as portrayed by the picture 'The Spirit of 1776,' he said. But that is far from reality for it was a struggling, poorly uniformed and equipped group that he took command of to battle the British."

"If ever there is a shrine to suffering on earth, excepting Calvary, it is Valley Forge where Washington and his army suffered through a full winter. And yet this man lived through such a state and brought to a successful conclusion the war he was fighting because his men had respect for his honesty and he had a feeling for his men."

Mr. Plenzke's talk was in the interest of the biennial celebration of Washington's birthday next February. The celebration will last until Thanksgiving day. During that period all schools, clubs and societies in the country will do their part to acquaint others with the real Washington. Yesterday marked the 150th anniversary of Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown.

ALLOW BILLS

Bills will be allowed at a meeting of the county board printing committee at the courthouse Wednesday, according to John E. Hantche, county clerk. Routine business matters will be transacted.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press New York—(CPA)—General Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense, is Germany's starboard anchor against Adolf Hitler's portside gale. The general warns Hitler. He has suppressed uprisings in the past—one of them ending when the bristling Hitler crawled under a table in a restaurant.

It was General Groener who sent the Kaiser's army on his way. At Spa, on Nov. 8, 1918, the general said to the German emperor: "Under the orders of its chiefs, the army will return home in calm and orderly manner, but not under the command of your majesty." The army knows you no longer.

The other war lords called him "the general," and tried him in an "honor court." He was exonerated. He was not red. With Fritz Ebert, first German president, he suppressed red revolt. The son of a Silesian paymaster, with no "von" before his name, the other generals maintained a social boycott against him. But, possessed of unusual social grace, he beat that, too.

A widower, with his charming daughter as hostess, he is socially secure. Gifted in emergency organization work, he was minister of transportation from 1920 to 1922. He called the incipient barriers against encroaching communism and fascism in republican Germany.

Away back in the "age of innocence," the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, eldest pastor of the exclusive Madison Square Presbyterian church, put on a pair of checkered horse blanket trousers, a double-breasted tunic and a red necktie, plastered his hair down with laundry soap and went slouching for evidence against the "damnable set of administration bloodhounds" he called the incumbent municipal trustees of that day. He had 334 affidavits to the tails of the bloodhounds. At 89, with his curly black beard now white and sparse, he is back in town, again thundering against the "betrayal of public trust," but somewhat disillusioned.

"Personally, I must say that I see no prospect of change," he says, wearily.

"They are a lying, perjured, run-soaked and libidinous lot," thundered the doctor, back in the nineties. That was fighting talk, and the district attorney summoned him to show proof. When he went out to get it, he made his red necktie out of a flannel shirt.

Hogarth's rake was pale compared to the doctor, stepping high. His affidavits brought on the Lexow investigation and loked Boss Croker and his pals. He had saved the city, but somehow it just wouldn't stay saved. He retired to Lake Placid in his declining years. Apparently he can't make much out of it all.

Gabriel Wells, now bringing back to America the original manuscript of Barrie's "The Little Minister," spent 14 years huddling in a Lexington, Mass., attic with a mound of books, when he first came to New York. THRONGS FILE PAST BODY OF THOMAS EDISON

More Than 10,000 Enter Little Room Where Inventor Lies in State

West Orange, N. J.—(AP)—The body of Thomas Alva Edison lay in state today, while thousands—the great and the unknown—paid homage and tribute.

He rested in the library of his laboratory, in the little room, where with test tube or pencil, so many of his wizardries of science took shape. More than 10,000 persons—school children, Edison plant employees, relatives and the curious—had waited in a long line throughout the mellow day yesterday to file into the little room.

The inventor will be buried in West Orange tomorrow. Final arrangements have not been announced, but it was thought that the Rev. Arthur H. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Orange would officiate. Final services will be at the grave in Rosedale cemetery, here. The funeral service hour is 2:30 p. m.

President Hoover was still undecided today on his plan to attend the funeral. It was indicated by the White House secretariat that Mr. Hoover would reach a decision by tonight.

Meanwhile a public demand for a national tribute to Mr. Edison's memory has swept the country. Acting Governor Wolber of New Jersey proclaimed that all electric lights in the state—in homes, streets or factories—be extinguished at 7 o'clock p. m. for one minute tomorrow as a reminder of what life would have been without Mr. Edison's invention of the incandescent bulb.

Several railroads and industrial concerns have announced they will suspend operations for one minute in honor of the inventor.

In New York and in many other cities, flags were ordered at half staff.

The board of education in New York started a movement to name one of its schools, now under construction, the Thomas A. Edison high school.

Messages of condolence continued to arrive at Glenmont, N. Y., Edison home. Some of these received by Mrs. Edison follow:

Cardinal Hayes—Pope Pius XI, has directed me to present his sincerest sympathy to Mrs. Edison and family in this hour of sad bereavement while the entire world suffers an irreparable loss in the passing on of one of its most distinguished leaders in scientific achievement.

Premier Mussolini of Italy—His genius belongs to the United States, but his work and his glory belong to the civilized world.

General John J. Pershing—The world has suffered a loss that is irreparable. None can take his place. Owen D. Young—The death of Edison marks an era in the progress of civilization.

RIVERVIEW 4-H CLUB HAS PICNIC, EXHIBIT

MAN WHO EVADED CUPID NOT SOUGHT IN OSHKOSH

Oshkosh — (AP)—Because Police Chief Arthur Gabbert doesn't aspire to the role of cupid, Reid W. Schoenover, who disappeared Sept. 21, on the eve of his announced wedding to Miss Ione Padgam, may be permitted to continue his wandering from Guthrie, Okla.

Chief Gabbert received word from Guthrie authorities yesterday that they were holding Schoenover, for whom an extensive search was made immediately after his unexplained departure. The police chief, however, went back that he wasn't interested.

The message from Guthrie said the man held there first gave the name of R. W. Synn, but later admitted he was Schoenover. He still carried a marriage license No. 300, corresponding to the one issued here.

Miss Padgam said she would still marry the young man, despite the fact he practically deserted her on the church doorstep.

INVITE PUBLIC TO HEAR ADDRESS BY FEDERAL LECTURER

The general public is invited by the Appleton Kiwanis club to attend a meeting at the Hotel Northern tonight at which Herbert M. Wheeler, chief lecturer with the United States Forestry Service, Washington, D. C., will talk on "The Lure of the Forest." Mr. Wheeler will speak at 7:30. Appleton is one of the Wisconsin cities in which he will talk during a 10-day visit in the state under the sponsorship of the forestry committee of the Wisconsin Kiwanis clubs.

Before the public meeting Mr. Wheeler will be the guest at a banquet, given by the local club. Members of the Kiwanis clubs of Seymour, Chilton, Neenah-Menasha and Oshkosh also are invited.

J. T. Quinlan Dies At Home In Portland

James T. Quinlan, 56, former district manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., here, died Monday morning at his home in Portland, Ore., according to word received here yesterday by the telephone company officials.

Entering the employ of the Bell Telephone system on April 1, 1889, Mr. Quinlan served in various capacities in the telephone field throughout the United States. On April 1, 1911, he was appointed district manager of the Green Bay office of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

He continued in the capacity of district manager when the district offices were moved from Green Bay to Appleton on Jan. 1, 1913. While in this city Mr. Quinlan was active in community circles, and helped establish and attend the phone company's district.

Receiving sick leave from his company on Oct. 27, 1926, he left for Portland, Oregon, where he has since made his home. Mr. Quinlan was succeeded here by F. N. Belanger of this city. He retired to private life in Portland on Oct. 1, 1928. Mr. Quinlan was born on March 17, 1855.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at Portland. Burial will be in a Portland cemetery.

MINOR REVOLVING FUND CONTINUES TO GROW

Washington — (AP)—The farm board's "minor revolving fund" has reached $85 and is still growing. Unlike the $500,000,000 revolving fund granted by congress to aid American farmers, the source of the $85 is the members themselves.

From the "minor revolving fund" is bought such delicacies as fruits and sweets which the members eat as they put in long hours pondering the problems of agriculture.

Wisconsin Weather
Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight with frost, mostly light, in south portion; somewhat cooler Wednesday in extreme southeast; rising temperature in northwest portion.

General Weather
Fair weather prevails over most of the country this morning except that it is cloudy and unsettled over portions of the upper lakes and it is raining along the north-Pacific coast. Low pressure over the upper lakes is causing temperatures to rise over the central and eastern portions of the country. Otherwise temperatures changes have been unimportant. High pressure over the upper Missouri Valley is expected to bring fair weather to this section during the next 24 hours, with cooler tonight.

Center Swamp Is Site Of Extinct Lake, Says Bagg

The extinct lake in Center swamp, near Appleton and the coral formations around Sturgeon Bay, proclaimed to be among the first in the world, were two interesting sidelights of Wisconsin geology that Prof. Rufus M. Bagg of Lawrence college, discussed Monday afternoon in the third of a series of geology lectures at the Lawrence college observatory.

Center, he showed how the original lake, elliptical in shape, had been gradually filled with sedge and several feet of peat on top.

"The soil bottom is very peculiar in this lake," Prof. Bagg said. "There is not a pebble in it, which shows that the lake was not of glacial origin."

According to Prof. Bagg, Wisconsin was once completely under water and the water over the state was a tropical ocean. That the water was tropical is evidenced in the coral formations prevalent in the region about Sturgeon Bay. He also discussed the summer courses of the Fox river, which, he said, used to run near Two Rivers but was changed when glacial deposits dammed the river forming Lake Winnebago.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY MOVIE ORDINANCE

The ordinance committee will consider the proposed ordinance regulating the management of movie theatres at a meeting at a meeting at city hall Tuesday evening. A public hearing on the regulation was held last Friday night, and tonight the committee will weigh the arguments presented by both sides at the hearing and formulate a recommendation to the council. Two other ordinances will be considered.

WISCONSIN GIVEN $3,039,195 FOR HIGHWAY PROGRAM

State Already Has Been Advanced $398,482 of Amount

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin has been apportioned $3,039,195 of the $125,- 000,000 federal funds available for aid in road construction work throughout the country during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933.

Subtracting $398,482 for a portion of emergency funds already advanced to the state leaves $2,640,713 federal money which can actually be spent next season to improve roads and given employment in Wisconsin.

The apportionment of the federal-aid funds, which will be immediately available for new projects in the different states, was made by the U. S. bureau of Public Roads 23 months in advance of the usual date so as to enable the states to hasten their construction work. Of the total appropriation for the country, 23 per cent was first deducted for administration and the remaining funds were divided on the basis of area, population and mileage of rural post roads in the states.

Policies of employing local labor for road construction, the fixing of minimum wages scales and the restriction of hours of employment so as to provide as many jobs as possible will be encouraged by the bureau of Public Roads.

Restriction of materials used on road building to Wisconsin products or the disbarment of contractors from the award of Wisconsin road contracts simply because they are not residents of the state are, however, prohibited by the Bureau of Public Roads in the administration of federal-aid funds.

SAYS DEMOCRACY IS AT CROSSROAD

Wriston Declares There Are Only Two Normal Governments in Western World

Stating that democracy stands at the crossroads, and pointing out that there are only two normal governments in the western world at the present time, the United States and France, President Henry M.
Wriston of Lawrence college emphasized the necessity for the students of today to take an active interest in the problems of citizenship, in an address before the Lawrence student body Monday morning.

President Wriston declared that college should be an experience in citizenship, creating business and professional men who will have a broad interpretation of world affairs, and who will be able, in a crisis, to think in international terms. As a means to this end, President Wriston held a liberal education of paramount importance.
An intelligent student government was also recognized by the speaker as an important step in attaining this goal.

"A philosophy of life which will not discount all the zest and joy which life can bring, is also a necessary factor in the development of a new attitude toward citizenship among the students of today," President Wriston said. The students were urged to find some spiritual truth around which they could organize their life as a coherent whole, so as not to acquire the feeling that there is nothing in life for which to strive.

In conclusion, President Wriston declared that a large share of the responsibility in developing this new type of citizenship rests upon the colleges and universities of the country and that the students of today must accept the challenge.

WHY DICTATORS THRIVE

By the passage of a public safety bill the Irish Free State too is pointed towards dictatorship, albeit a soft and kindly one in comparison to most.

Jury trials and the other usual machinery designed to perpetuate free institutions, however sadly at times they fail to administer justice, are abolished and special military tribunals substituted.

The military tribunal always means a rule of iron. Trials are short and bereft of the blather that in civil trials so often sidetracks justice. Mercy is not a part of the ritual. Sentences are severe. Delays are not countenanced. "We are not abolishing free speech," declares President Cosgrave, "but we will prevent speech emphasized with a gun."

The act, of course, was passed by the Dail because of the increase of communistic disorders.

A near dictatorship exists in Germany, although Hindenburg like Cosgrave, is making it as soft as possible. Neither of these men want power in the sense that Mussolini wants it. They merely want to prevent disorder.

The trouble is that we have quite a number of people who do not know how to handle liberty, so they rove in mobs, throw stones, assault, kill, just to indicate their political opinions.

They are apparently without sufficient mentality to realize that if they abuse liberty to the extent of depriving others of it, they will come in time to be deprived of it themselves.

The Germans who are doing this have forgotten—how soon men forget—that such manifestations under the kaiser were met with machine gun fire and the disturbers thoroughly cowed if not killed.

Meanwhile the German Fascisti with their leader Hitler can hardly withhold their impatience. They become gay when communistic mobs march out. They know that it is through such disorders and perhaps only through them that they may get the support of the people sufficiently to step into power. Well may they boisterously drink to that day. Of course, Hitler means kaiserism all over again and cold lead for the mob.

Disorder made Mussolini and abolished liberty, as we know it, from Italy. It will do the same thing almost anywhere else.

"What fools we mortals be."

STATE POLICE

An outstanding benefit developing from efficient organizations of state police is the cooperation established between them and the various city and county law enforcement bodies.

The Michigan State Police, for example, is continually adding proof of its efficiency in maintaining law and order. Having a highly trained personnel, courteous yet efficient, and an exceptional esprit de corps, it has acquired an enviable reputation among the citizens of the state.

The installation of a radio station at headquarters in continuous contact with all state posts and patrol cars, permits of the speedy broadcast of information so necessary in the apprehension of criminals.

Receiving sets are being installed in the offices of county sheriffs and municipal police departments, thus enabling all law enforcement organizations to jump into instant and harmonious action under the direction of one central office.

The efficiency of the state organization and the respect with which it is regarded have overcome a tendency toward lack of cooperation so often in evidence between neighboring county and city departments.

Other states in which similar police organizations are functioning have come to a realization that a properly equipped and efficiently directed state police force is a prime factor in the suppression of crime and the maintenance of order.

Not only the perpetrators of major crimes but also the petty criminals who operate in rural and isolated districts are finding these states unfruitful territories in which to carry on their activities.

AND THEN CAME WAYSIDE

Over the entrance to a little cemetery in Oconto county is that rude but truthful and eloquent sentence: "I today, tomorrow you," in powerful revelation of the passerby that the one certain thing in life is death and the time is only a matter of turn.

But after centuries of organized government another thing was, seemingly by common consent, added to death as belonging to the realm of certainty—taxes.

Are we in Wisconsin about to add a third—bank robberies?

Certainly banks, and particularly those located in rural communities, may well weigh the quoted words.

Practically every section of the state has been touched up this summer by gunfire or nitro-glycerine, and the merry death dance goes reeling on.

It is St. Nazianz one day. Wayside the next. What village tomorrow?

"I today, tomorrow you," should be written over bank entrances.

There is no depression in the bank robbery business in Wisconsin. Indeed the demand, the supply, the market, chances of escape and all figures and phrases usually used in connection with industry show the business to be on the up-and-up. The matter of catching robbers having become a political issue in this state the machinery of the law has become demoralized simply because our rulers will not permit it to be effectively organized.

But the situation is plain. Shall we stop bank robberies and thereby lose shuddering references to Cossacks with wire whips or is it not better to keep our good old political pow-yows and let the banks go to blazes and Halifax? It's just a matter of choice.

WITH THE GONG

Picked as a third class team and a sure loser against the mighty men from Purdue, Wisconsin turned with the fury and ferocity of a wounded feline and in the opening quarter swept away all defenses, piling up a score of sufficient size to protect it from the fickle uncertainties of the game.

In this fierce onslaught, this packing of its entire punch into the very opening minutes of play, instead of cautiously feeling out an opponent, leading and sidestepping as though to conceal its purposes as well as its strength or weakness, in other words this abandonment of the general accepted procedure and substitution instead of a bold, fast and dauntless policy, achieved the desired result of throwing Purdue off its balance, and before it had fully recovered the shock the final whistle had sounded.

It is about time that Wisconsin steps out into the front rank where it belongs. We can all bear defeat now and then, but neither the state nor its university was designed as a trailer.

USE OF VACCINATION

The warning that large parts of the United States are in danger of epidemics of smallpox—a warning recently given the American Public Health Association by a Metropolitan Life Insurance Company expert—comes as a surprise to a nation which had supposed smallpox a disease that had been conquered.

The trouble, it seems, is that in many neighborhoods there is still a strong public sentiment against vaccination. It is precisely in these neighborhoods that smallpox is more prevalent. It is noteworthy that the most thickly populated eastern states had the fewest cases of the disease.

Vaccination offers a sure method of fighting smallpox. Any community that makes an intelligent and determined use of this method has little to fear. But any community that refuses to use it is flirting with danger.

Opinions Of Others

MAKING READY FOR BUSY DAYS
The executives of the Pennsylvania railroad do not think that the country is going to the dogs. On the contrary, they are taking a most cheerful outlook of the future. As a proof of this they have ordered sixty powerful electric freight locomotives to be built at a cost of $2,500,000. Twenty of these are to be constructed in Lima, O., twenty in Edgemoor, near this city, and the remainder in the Pennsylvania railroad car shops at Altoona. The railroad has suffered quite as much as any other branch of business by the present depression; but those who are in charge of them are confident that the day is coming when they will need additional facilities and they are acting accordingly. There is significance in this move, MADISON last weekend . . . people taking the victory over Purdue with a grain of salt . . . wait until a few more games have been played . . . everyone marveling over that first quarter . . . we've seen seven Wisconsin teams play and this one showed more punch than the one in 1928 which knocked Notre Dame all over the lot . . . or the one which beat Pennsylvania last year . . . Purdue was a great team—in the third quarter—but Wisconsin clearly deserved to win . . . it was gratifying to note that of the three Appleton boys on the squad, every one of them was in the game . . . all of them turned in creditable performances, particularly Kranhold . . .

Our football expert did pretty well in his result predictions last Friday. He was wrong twice—Purdue-Wisconsin and Chicago-Yale, and had one tie—Iowa-Indiana. On the five others, he clocked absolutely correct, outguessing the high-paid experts from the big cities on Ohio State-Michigan and Harvard-Army.

For the benefit of suspicious customers, let us repeat—we are NOT guessing our own results this year.

Unless the Expert forgets to send his in.

Just Folks

WORKING MEN

Back among the busy men, back among the workers!
Done with all the talkers big; done with all the shirkers;
Done with all the tinselled sham. Those gay days are over
When the poorest of the flock slept in beds of clover.
Worry didn't fret us much; danger seldom tried us!
Howsoever we blundered then, luck stayed right beside us.
Waste was seldom thought about; fields were seeded.
Fools were able high to rise when wisdom wasn't needed.
None wastes time to sharpen blades he no more is using.
None keeps training for the fight he has no fear of losing.
Pleasure, though we guessed it not, turned every muscle flabby,
And fortune's lack of problems grave let many minds grow shabby.

Done are all the sunny days; terrific storms beset us.
We have need of conquests now which only strength can get us.
Luck no longer dogs our heels; stark trouble floods the nation.
Life has called us back to work to find our own salvation.

EYES OF THE WORLD!

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

NOW, LISTEN, YOU POOR BOOBS

A reader sends this Silver Star letter:
Dr. Wm. Brady,
Dear Sir:
A few months ago I wrote and asked you to send me a pamphlet how to cure the constipation habit. I followed your wonderful advice and now have a natural bowel movement every other day, sometimes every day. Haven't taken a physic since. So you can imagine how grateful I am to you. I was in a terrible condition. I spent hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and for physics. I would take physics sometimes as often as three times a day. Every new dose that came to my hands I would try, enemas and what not, nothing seemed to take effect any more. I thought I would have to die.
So after reading your pamphlet I made up my mind to give it a trial and not take anything. The first 9 days I was in misery. The tenth day, for the first time in 20 years, I had a natural bowel movement, and I believe I've never been so happy in all my life as I was then when I realized that I had won the battle.
Thank you so much for your wonderful advice.
(Mrs. C. R.)

Probably the reason why this habit victim was in misery, as she says, for so many days, was that she merely gave my advice a "trial"—a trick she had tried a thousand times before and invariably in vain. So her psychology was stacked against her. How she managed to stick it out so long under the circumstances is more than I can surmise. As a rule four or five days brings victory the slave of habit can hold out that long.
That's the crux of the problem. After fifteen, twenty, thirty years or more of bad habits, wrong thinking, morbid introspection, it is not easy to reform in a day. You have to give it a fight. Whether you put up a good fight or a wobbly one depends on your own character or will power, which, naturally, is feeble to begin with, since you've never exercised it in respect to leaving the alimentary function alone. You've interfered with that function habitually for so many years that you've developed a conditioned reflex, as psychologists or physiologists would say, and hence your alimentary apparatus simply won't function now unless you do something or take something to release the brakes, or as physiologists would say, to relax the inhibition.
But never mind all that psychological stuff. It is merely a lotta hifalutin words anyway. If you're a victim of the constipation or physic habit, and if you will undertake to refrain from your usual dope or enema or whatever artifice you habitually employ, for a period of five days, you can free yourself forever from that habit. If I had you under lock and key where I was certain you could not get your dope, I could and would guarantee this result for you. But human nature is pretty weak and not many slaves of the physic habit have the pluck our reader had.

The Tinymites
By Hal Cochran

PITCH LAKE was very queer to see. Said Scouty, "Gee, it seems to me that when they shovel pitch all day the lake would soon run dry. The man we're watching now. Just watch him closely. He knows how to fill the big wheelbarrows that are promptly pushed right by."
"This lake will never run dry, my son. As fast as shoveling is done, it fills right up again," replied the kindly Travel Man. "This may seem very strange to you, but it is absolutely true. Look round a bit and then we'll go." And off the Tinies ran.
They asked a man if they could aid, but he replied, "I am afraid the work's too hard. You lads just watch, but don't get in the way." Soon Clowny said, "It seems to me that we've seen all there is to see. Let's hike along and maybe we'll find other sights today."
Back into Trinidad they went and there a lot of time was spent just gazing into windows of the stores along the street. Some candy soon was spied by one, and he exclaimed, "It would be fun to step right in and buy some. I've a tooth that's very sweet."
The Travel Man replied, "You bet. Some candy's just what we'll get." He bought them each a little bag and my it tasted good. Out on the street again they spied a friendly woman. Scouty cried, "Gee, she is selling funny sticks and they are made of wood."
They walked up to the woman who just smiled and said, "Well, howdy! Perhaps you'd like to see my canes. Here, look them over, son." Wee Clowny took one in his hand and said, "Say, this is surely grand. An alligator's carved on it. I'll bet the carver's fun."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Snuffing Borie Acid
In reply to the inquiry of Mrs. A. M. M. about the cause and cure of sinus trouble you said those were two of the things you hoped to learn some day. But you gave me a better answer than that. Up to a year ago I would catch "cold" every time the wind changed, and my nostrils would block up with yellow mucus. I don't know whether this was sinus trouble or not. Anyhow in one of your letters you suggested snuffing a pinch of borie acid powder in each nostril once or twice a day. I tried it out for several days, and I have not been bothered since (C. G. E.)
Answer—That was a suggestion sent in by a correspondent, and as I remembered it was for simple chronic rhinitis and not for sinus trouble. I am glad to know that you found it helpful. I do not think it can do any harm in any case, if tried out for a few weeks.
Mineral Water
I enclose the report of an analysis of a mineral water. Please give me your opinion of it. I have friends who recommend it, but would like to have your advice whether it is a "safe and sane" tonic. (G. W. J.)
Answer—According to the chemist's analysis the water contains much gypsum and common salt, with a dash of hydrogen sulphide, the gas that makes bad eggs notorious. Perhaps an occasional beaker of such water is harmless, but by imagination is not elastic enough to comprehend any reason why anybody should drink such water if plain water is available.
Campion Bags
I find that many persons in our neighborhood place campion bags on a string and fasten them around children's necks with a sincere belief that infantile paralysis will be prevented. These people seem to ignore recognized precautions against infection. . . . (B. O. E.)
Answer—Yes, they would. The use of the charm helps to relieve their scruples about neglecting the proper protection of the children.
Going Native
I would like to have my ears pierced. Kindly let me know of a competent physician. (Mrs. A. H.)
Answer—Any doctor can pierce your ears—if he will. There ought to be a law against it, and another against tattooing except to conceal scars or other defects.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — The state department has turned to a quiet unassuming man for advice and counsel as to the best way of dealing with the delicate situation now existing in Manchuria between China and Japan.

Diplomacy is a new field for W. Cameron Forbes, American ambassador to Tokyo, although he has been in public life at intervals since 1904. His mission to Tokyo, begun a year ago, in his first diplomatic assignment.

But Ambassador Forbes has a reputation for fact finding and that is what the state department desires most on the Manchurian situation. He has much background information gathered since he first went to Tokyo which should prove valuable to Secretary Stimson.

In fact, Stimson was so eager to get Forbes' viewpoint that the ambassador rushed to the state department from the railroad station when he reached the capital.
Complimented By Wilson
Forbes is probably best known for his work in connection with the Philippine Islands.
He was governor general of the islands from 1909 to 1913 and had previously been a member of the Philippine commission. President Harding appointed him to the famed Woods-Forbes commission in 1921 which investigated conditions in the islands.
Forbes and the late Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood spent six months studying the problem of whether Filipinos should be granted independence. Their report to the President was that the islands "are not yet ready."

President Wilson praised his work in the Philippines. When Forbes resigned as governor general when a democratic administration came in Wilson wrote in accepting it:
"I realize the amount of excellent work you have done in the islands . . . and I desire to thank you for your faithful and careful service."
Grandson of Essayist
Sixty-one years old, wealthy and the grandson of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the famous essayist, Ambassador Forbes is little known around the capital.

He was educated at Harvard and upon graduation entered the field of finance. He served as a clerk in a Boston banking house at first and five years from the time he left Harvard he was made chief of the financial department of Stone and Webster, electrical engineers. Since 1899 he has been a member of J. M. Forbes and Co., bankers.

His post in Tokyo is one of the most important American diplomatic stations.
It has been vacant since 1929, when Charles MacVeagh resigned, except for the brief time during the London naval conference when William Castle, Jr., undersecretary of state, filled the post temporarily.

Today's Anniversary
GERMAN SEA WARFARE
On Tuesday, Oct. 20, German warships bombarded Dunkirk and German raiders sank two British destroyers and nine merchant ships.

No civilian casualties were reported in Dunkirk.
Sinking of the ships by the German raiders took place in the North Sea between the Shetland Islands and the Norwegian coast.
England's losses for the week ending Oct. 20 included 17 ships of over 1600 tons.

Meantime the British began an enveloping movement northeast of Bagdad and drove the Turkish forces in the vicinity of Kizil-Robot across the Diale River.

On this date President Wilson issued a proclamation specifying Sunday, Oct. 23, as a day of prayer for war success and asked his "countrymen to observe the appointed day, according to their several faiths, in solemn prayer that God's blessing may rest upon the high task which is laid upon us, to the end that the cause for which we give our lives and treasure may triumph and our efforts be blessed with high achievement."

East Side Lights
The lower East side, apathy of industry, territory of 8,000 tenements, truly a vast melting pot, is an area of 300 square blocks whose bounds generally are defined as the Bowers and Fourth avenue, East Fourteenth street, and East River.

All of the upland of the section between 1638 and 1654 streets to eight individuals by the Dutch West India company, for farm purposes. Since then, extension of the island above the river and reclamation of swampland have increased the size of the section almost a third.

Now only two local owners control more than 10 acres each, though the largest of the original grants—to old Peter Stuyvesant, last of the Dutch governors, was 120 acres.

The East side has its own chamber of commerce, with headquarters down on Grand street, and, as we have said before, has its own denizens who have never seen what there is of New York above Fourteenth street.

Before many years go by, there will be a magnificent East River drive from Grand street to Fourteenth, which will wipe out one of the most atmospheric water fronts in the world—alternately colorful and drab.

STATES, CITIES TO FOLLOW U. S. BANKING LEAD

Action Would Release Huge Sums in Securities Now Tied Up

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1931 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—(CPA)—To make the debentures of the national credit corporation more valuable and useful in the general banking system of the country, state and city governments will be asked to follow the lead of the federal government in making the corporation's new gold notes eligible for security on governmental deposits. This would release hundreds of millions of dollars of other securities now tied up as collateral for such deposits.

Most state and local governments have discretionary powers to say what collateral must be put up by banks when they receive deposits of state or city or county funds. The attorney general of the state of Ohio has just ruled, for instance, that real estate mortgages can be used as collateral for county and state deposits in Ohio banks.

When the directors of the National Credit corporation met Saturday in New York, it was suggested by the comptroller of the currency, John W. Polo, that inasmuch as the secretary of the treasury had issued a ruling to accept the debentures as collateral for federal deposits, the states and cities might do likewise.

Also it has been suggested that the federal government might go a step farther and declare the debentures eligible for security on the part of banks receiving the postal savings deposits. This will require an amendment to regulations by the trustees of the postal savings fund, namely, the postmaster general, secretary of the treasury and attorney general.

About $450,000,000 of postal savings money is on deposit in various banks and approximately the same amount of collateral must be in use now to secure that amount. This is entirely separate from the treasury holdings in a selected number of federal depositories.

Because the treasury deposits fluctuate according to balances are drawn down seasonally, the exact amount of collateral released for other purposes cannot be estimated but if the states and cities accept the new debentures as collateral and if the postoffice department follows the lead of the treasury which it is likely to do, it may be estimated that the new debenture will displace more than a half billion dollars of securities now used as collateral and will release those securities for other uses and thereby increase the credit resources of the banks throughout the country.

Would Ease Conditions

It may be, of course, that the National Credit corporation ultimately will have fully a billion dollars worth of debentures outstanding, in which case the action of the states and cities in addition to the federal government in releasing other collateral would have a tremendous effect on easing credit conditions. It is reckoned that every dollar of securities supports potentially ten times as much credit. So if a method is worked out whereby, for instance, a billion dollars of debentures are accepted as collateral for governmental deposits of all kinds, banks will be permitted to substitute the debentures for the collateral they now have tied up and some of these banks could then, if necessary, borrow at the National Credit corporation or at large banks using the released collateral as a basis for new loans.

These developments indicate that the careful study now being given to every form of credit instrumentally may eventually result in the setting up of a permanent institution growing out of the National Credit corporation, being for business and credit analogous to the agricultural intermediate credit system. For if it proves sound in times of emergency it would add to the credit facilities of the nation in normal times.

New credit corporations are expected to be set up locally, too. An example is the remarkable way in which the people of Akron, Ohio, met a local crisis there. Besides merging two of the largest banks into one, they formed a $15,000,000 credit corporation to reallocate assets of the other banks of the city. Debentures in the $15,000,000 corporation were subscribed for by rubber companies and other corporations totaling

Plant Graceful Darwin Tulip Bulbs For Cutting

Flower shows each year exhibit the magnificence of the long stemmed Darwin tulips for cutting. Great vases of these handsome tulips grace all the shows and they are bedded as well in the garden exhibits. They are the most graceful and colorful of all the spring bulbs. One can't have his cake and eat it. He can't have his tulips to beautify the garden and border and cut them lavishly for bouquets in the house.

As they are the finest cutting material of their season, reserve beds for this purpose are needed so that the ornamental plantings need not be marred by cutting. As tulips take up little ground room, a few rows in the vegetable garden or other convenient portions of the domain will furnish an ample supply for vases. The cheapest way to get a supply of Darwin tulips is to buy the mixtures by the hundred. As bouquets are often very effectively made with several colors, the mixed colors are admirable for the purpose. The favorite combination consists of the pink and rose sorts with the lilac tones.

Bouquets of a single color and most effective. The favorite colors may be selected for the cutting garden. The establishment of a cutting garden of tulips is also easily attained by taking the small bulbs which the natural increase of the bulbs provide in liberal quantity, beginning with the first year after planting. Setting these smaller bulbs in the reserve garden will in a season or two provide a fine quantity of bloom.

Some of the most popular Darwins for cutting as well as for brilliant bedding effects are Pride of Harlem, one of the largest and finest of the class, a rosy carmine, Mr.

ling 44 companies. In other words the federal plan is being applied in a local way which means a recognition of the sound principles underlying the National Credit corporation plan.

Farncombe Sanders, a rosier red; City of Harlem, cardinal red; Clara Butt, pink; Baronne de la Tonnerre, rose; Petrus Hondius, a brilliant American Beauty rose color; Dream and Rev. Ewbank, in lilac and violet; Faust and Purple King in the dark tones.

Order the named varieties for garden ornamentation and plant mixtures liberally in the cutting garden. The Darwin have long stems which are sufficiently flexuous to avoid all appearance of stiffness. Their gentle curves make a vase of Darwin tulips the embodiment of grace. The Darwin and other late tulips are the finest of all tulips for cutting. The early types, being short of stem, are not so well adapted for the purpose.

New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints—Muscles. EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You can not get rid of rheumatic agony till these dangerous poisons are driven out of your system. External remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine now sold by druggists everywhere, that acts directly on the liver, kidneys and blood, and helps expel through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatic remedy guaranteed by Schlitz Bros. to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness and swelling and stop your rheumatic suffering or nothing to pay.

DARK PROPHECIES OF YORE CHEERING TO BRITONS TODAY

London—(AP)—"They were all wrong" is the heading over a handbill reviewing gloomy prophecies of other days, being distributed in London. Here they are:
William Pitt said: "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."
Wilberforce in the early 1800's said: "I dare not marry, the future is so dark and unsettled."
Lord Grey, in 1819, said he believed ed "everything is tending to a convulsion."

The duke of Wellington on the eve of his death, in 1851 thanked God he would "be spared from seeing the consummation of ruin that is gathering about us."
Disraeli (1849) "In industry, commerce and agriculture there is no hope."
Queen Adelaide said she "had only one desire, to play the part of Marie Antoinette with bravery in the revolution that was coming on England."
Lord Shaftesbury (1848): "Nothing can save the British empire from shipwreck."
But, concludes the circular, "we

29 FACING CHARGES IN NEW YORK BANK FAILURE

New York—(AP)—State Banking Superintendent Joseph Broderick and 28 officials of the bank of United States were indicted Monday.
Three indictments were returned against Broderick, two charging neglect of duty and a third charging conspiracy. The indictments were returned by the January grand jury which has been investigating the failure of the Bank of United States.
At the same time that the indictments against Broderick were returned, the grand jury also filed blanket indictments against 28 of the 35 officials and directors of the bank. They were charged with violation of Section 297 of the penal law, negligently participating by various acts in the fraudulent insolvency of the bank.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.
Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.
You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of evergreen, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Thomas Alva Edison

February 11, 1847—October 18, 1931

"HE has led no armies into battle—he has conquered no countries—he has enslaved no peoples—yet he wields a power the magnitude of which no warrior ever dreamed. He commands a devotion more sweeping in scope, more world-wide than any other living man—a devotion rooted deep in human gratitude, and untinged by bias of race, color, religion or politics."

From "The Life of Thomas A. Edison"
By Arthur J. Palmer

The entire civilized world regrets the passing and will revere the memory of Thomas A. Edison. He was a truly great benefactor of mankind. . . . In the electrical industry we trace our very jobs to the inventive genius and unceasing energy of this outstanding American. . . . The privilege of honoring Mr. Edison does not belong alone to the workers of one craft. It belongs to the world. We need only mention that Edison invented the carbon telephone transmitter; that he multiplied the usefulness of the telegraph by inventing the quadruplex sending instrument; that he helped perfect the typewriter; that he created the mimeograph, the phonograph, the modern storage battery and the motion picture—and we begin to appreciate that there is perhaps little in the recent progress of industry, business or recreation that has not felt his magic touch.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE

© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

CORRINE was very smart in a black suit with trim bands of black fur. Her snowy white blouse had an audacious polka dot trim and her small black hat of corded velvet was just a scrap of material until she pulled it over one ear and twisted it above the other. But the gypsy dark eyes were so gay and enthused, the deep red lips were so curved and alluring the dark singlets flew around so rebelliously that no one could remember that Corrine was trying to be sophisticated.

"Come on, Sue, I've got 79 things to tell you," Corrine said, pulling Sue's arm. "We'll be down in ten minutes, Jack. And then let's eat. I'm starved."

"Make it snappy," Jack called. "We have a wedding ring to buy." All the time Sue chatted with Corrine, powdered her nose and went rushing out to lunch, talked and laughed and pretended to eat, she was aware only of Jack's eyes, Jack's voice. There was such a warm, swift rush of happiness surging through her that she pinched herself once or twice to see if she would wake up. She wondered if she would ever feel this way again. Too breathlessly glad to live, almost. This must be ecstasy, and ecstasy, as everybody knew, was very, very brief.

Then after a while she was alone with Jack again and the clock was dangerously near nine and they were in a dimly lighted little shop where rows and rows of wedding rings reposed in black velvet boxes. The one they chose was a platinum band set with diamonds all the way around. It was expensive, Sue knew, but she didn't suggest a cheaper one. She would have once. Not now. She knew that when a man wants to express his love through a gift he should not be refused the privilege. That to him, there would be less magic in something just as enduring but not quite so lovely.

"Sue," Jack said suddenly, and his voice was very serious.

"Yes?" Sue asked, wondering at the earnestness of his tone.

"Promise me that you'll remember that I adore you, no matter what happens!"

"No matter what happens? But Jack, nothing can happen. Not ever! And you know that I'll always love you—until—oh, I couldn't ever stop!"

But a little of the star mist seemed to fade, as though some unseen hand had worked a disenchantment. "Jack, what could happen?" she asked again, straining closer.

"Nothing will ever happen to us. But life does such crazy things to people. I come up against it in my business all the time. People still loving each other . . . and not knowing it . . . and wanting divorces. Sometimes there isn't any ground for the divorce at all . . . just looks that way . . . and the party that thinks he has been wronged won't let the other one explain. But we'll understand each other, always, won't we?"

"Of course," Sue said simply. "Why shouldn't we?" And the music began again, dim, remote, but there just the same. Then she was dressing in the deep dark wine and the dusky blue. She was on her way to the church. She had her flowers, and their sweetness was haunting as though it held dreams close-harbored, in its blossoms. Corrine's eyes were suspiciously bright, so her voice was more careless, more enchanting. Even Barbara seemed to catch the sentiment and her pansy-purple eyes were softer than Sue had even seen them, as she looked at Jean. Maybe she didn't love Jean as pioneer women had loved the men they followed through the wilderness but she recognized the fact that there was something intangible about love—something that she couldn't reach but could sense. Just the same her voice broke the spell.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vance

SHALL SHE MARRY FOR LOVE OR TO PLEASE THE FAMILY?

Dear Virginia Vance: Shall I marry for love or to keep peace in the family? My problem is this: I have been in love for four years with a boy whom my family approved of sufficiently to allow me to go with him. But when they found that I wanted to marry him they made my life miserable, sent me away to school in a big city and tried to make me forget him. They disapproved of him because his family has a low standing in our town. While away I met Dick whom I like very much but do not love. My family wants me to marry him. He has given me a ring and as his family have both money and position every one is happy except me. I am still in love with the other fellow but like and respect Dick very much and he loves me. Don't tell me to wait and see how things turn out. I must decide at once.

Just look at the problem from Dick's point of view for a minute: Aren't you being unfair to that young man? You're debating whether or not to please the family — you're wondering whether you can bring yourself to give up the man you really love, but you don't seem to be considering Dick's position in the matter.

You may think that by agreeing to marry him, you're doing all that is required to insure his happiness — but actually you're letting him in for a lot of worry and misery, if you undertake man's trimony with another man in your heart. It's difficult enough to be a good loving sweet-tempered wife, under the best of circumstances. If you marry a man without loving him but confident that your liking and respect will go a long way toward making a success of things—it is still more difficult. And if you attempt marriage without love, and with a genuine feeling for a man other than your husband, you are almost foredoomed to failure.

So for Dick's sake, and out of a sense of fair play to him, you should break off any form of engagement between you two. Since you want to make a decision at once — that is the only possible step you can take.

However this does not mean that you must marry immediately. You can still afford to wait. It may be that your first love is to be the only real one in your life. It may be that there will be another man for you. The fact that you must, in all fairness, turn down one suitor doesn't mean that you're bound to marry some one else right away.

If you're sensible you'll go out as much as possible, make a great many new friends, and try to interest yourself in some work which will help you to stop brooding about this love problem. And after you've pursued a reasonably even tenor of existence for some time, you'll be in a position to judge clearly whether your true love is suited to be your husband.

Heretofore, family opposition and the glamour of first love may have helped to make your man a very romantic figure. Now, if you take pains to surround yourself with new interests and new friends, you may be able to view him impartially and clearly. And if you find that he still measures up to your standards—that he is still the only man in the world for you, then you have the right to make your own choice — in spite of your family's remonstrances.

His family's position need not interfere with your happiness provided he is really the right man for you. But since you will have many difficulties to face, if you choose him, you must make quite sure of your feeling for him. You mustn't incur your people's enmity because of a romantic notion. Patience and common-sense will solve this problem for you in

EYE-LASHES AND BROWS ARE FRAME FOR EYES

BY ALICIA HART

If "eyes are the mirrors of the soul," then your eye-lashes and eye-brows are the frames for the mirrors and you should give them plenty of attention. Feed your eyelashes a good eye-lash grower each night and brush your eyebrows and lashes twice a day with a little soft brush especially made for them. Brush the brows so that they will keep a good shape and the upper lashes so that they will curl up. You should always use the brush after you have made up your face, as powder and cosmetics of all kinds tend to make the eyelashes brittle.

Most eye-lashes get lighter at the ends. A touch of mascara will remedy this fault. Don't put it on the roots and don't use it too lavishly, for it will get in your eyes and on your cheeks, completely spoiling your well-groomed look. Dark brown mascara is a rule for almost everybody except the very dark brunettes.

There also are liquids which take the place of mascara. Some tend to stay on longer and be smoother. There is a blue one which is fascinating, particularly if you are blonde. It gives a radiance around the eyes which is very intriguing. Don't put any makeup on the lower lashes.

If you use mascara on the eye brows, be sure and brush them after it is dry. An eyebrow pencil is better for the brows as it gives a softer, more natural effect.

Be sure and remove all your eye makeup before you retire and then apply nourishing cream around your eyes and eyelashes.

Eye shadow should be applied before you powder. After you have powdered, rub off the excess with a little complexion brush. Use eye shadow sparingly on the street, and don't overdo it even for evening. Your eye shadow doesn't necessarily have to be the same color as your eyes. Often, it is more bewitching to use a contrasting color. Sometimes, brown makes blue or green or gray eyes even more fascinating and I've seen blue eyeshadow do the loveliest things for black eyes. Never apply it below your eyes; blend it outward to the corner of the upper lid until there is no harsh line where it ends.

EARLY BUILDING OF NEW SCHOOL SEEMS ASSURED

$125,000 Bond Issue to Finance Project Favored by Council

Menasha—Immediate action toward construction of a new fifth ward school building apparently was assured at a conference meeting of aldermen, the water and light commission, the board of education and the park board in the council chambers Monday evening. In an informal ballot taken at the close of the meeting all aldermen present favored the project, and the initial resolution for a bond issue, probably for $125,000, is expected to be considered at the regular meeting of the common council Tuesday evening.

Mayor N. G. Remmel opened Monday's meeting with an explanation of its purpose. He pointed out that the bond issue is the only feasible method of raising money for such a purpose. He explained that payments from the water and light commission, covering taxes on the water and light plant, interest, and part of the principal of the city's equity in the plant, would be used to meet payments on the bonds. No additional burden on city taxpayers would be made, he added.

The need of a school building and whether it should be constructed at the present time, were the most important things to be considered the mayor stated.

More Room Needed
J. E. Kitowski, superintendent of schools, explained the need of a new building, stating that the present Jefferson school, a four room structure, is inadequate, ever crowded, a fire trap, has inadequate heating facilities, that the third and fourth grades are together, and that a number of students that should be able to attend school in the fifth ward are forced to attend other grade schools. The inadequacy of the present building resulted in overcrowded conditions in other city schools.

Alderman Michael Small, stating that he was not opposed to the new school, maintained that conditions in the city should be considered and that major projects of this kind should be postponed for at least a year. H. D. Landgraf, school board member, in reply to Small's talk, stated that building prices are down at the present time and under the plan considered, no additional burden would be placed on the tax payer.

$50,000 Weekly Payroll
Mayor Remmel presented a number of statistics showing that the weekly payroll by Menasha industries at present is $50,000, only $5,000 under the peak. Figures reveal that Neenah and Menasha as a community have escaped, generally, the effects of the depression, he indicated.

Michael Grade, third ward alderman, favored immediate action toward the school's construction, and Alderman P. Kelley, first ward, urged that architects' plans be drawn to provide more tangible data on which to work. Alderman F. Heckrodt, third ward, favored the plan, and Alderman C. Grade, fifth ward, after being assured by J. E. Kitowski that the tax payer would bear no additional burden, also approved. In an informal vote taken by the mayor, all remaining council members present voiced their approval.

George Banta, Jr., park board chairman, spoke on the needs of play ground facilities and heavy sports in the fourth and fifth wards and stated that by combining the efforts of the park board and board of education, the grounds of the new school would be available as a recreation center throughout the year.

Would Improve Grounds
Banta stated that a survey of park needs in the city had been made, and that steps to provide adequate facilities in the fourth and fifth wards should be planned. In consideration of the probable growth of the city, a plan to construct the new school near the ward line would not be advisable, he believed.

William Trilling briefly outlined the relief of unemployment which would be made possible by immediate construction of the building. Mayor Remmel indicated that the preliminary resolution toward authorization of the bond issue would be drawn for aldermanic action immediately.

CONGRESSMAN TOLD OF RETAINING WALL NEED
Menasha—Congressman Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, in Menasha Tuesday morning, was interviewed by Mayor N. G. Remmel relative to the construction of a retaining wall on the north side of the wall has been felt for some time, city officials stated, and congressional action towards its construction is sought.

Congressman Reilly remained in Menasha during the forenoon for interviews on pension matters and other affairs needing congressional attention. He was to be at the Valley Inn, Neenah, during the afternoon.

HAIRCUTS OFFERED FOR 35 CENTS NOW; SHAVES 20 CENTS

Menasha—Four union barber shops in Menasha today announced a drastic reduction in prices effective Wednesday morning. The four shops, owned by Earl Maugh, John Holowski, Roy Walker, and Joseph Wiler, will reduce the price of haircuts from 50 to 35 cents, and shaves from 25 to 20 cents. Similar reductions in other work also have been announced.

ALDERMEN MAY ACT ON SCHOOL PROJECT

Further Discussion of Improvement Work Expected at Meeting

Menasha—Preliminary action toward construction of a new school building, a discussion of public improvements, and transaction of a considerable amount of routine business is expected at a regular meeting of the common council Tuesday evening.

The conference meeting in the council chambers Monday evening, relative to school construction, is expected to provide material for aldermanic action Tuesday. A report on the proposed improvement of the fifth ward is expected from the board of public works, and the matter of additional police may be considered again.

Routine work was done at a regular meeting of aldermanic committees in the city offices Monday evening.

MENASHA SOCIETY

Menasha—Women's Relief corps will meet in S. A. Cook armory Thursday afternoon. A corps inspection will be followed by a buffet supper.

Women's Benefit association of Menasha celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the local order at a meeting in Knights of Columbus lodge rooms Monday evening.

The meeting opened with a 6:30 covered dish party under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Olson, Mrs. Josephine Baurendt, and Mrs. Grace Miller provided a large birthday cake, cut by Mrs. Rose Schenck, a charter member of the organization.

Following a talk by Mrs. Voss, cards were played, honors at schafkopf going to Mrs. Minnie Roho, and Mrs. Viola Huns; in which to Mrs. Ann Knoll and Mrs. Alvin Thiede.

St. Thomas guild of St. Thomas Episcopal church will hold an all day meeting in the parish house Wednesday. Regular guild activities will be continued.

Menasha Eagles' Drum corps will entertain at a Halloween party in Eagles' hall Oct. 23.

Sanctuary society of St. Patrick's church entertained at a public card party in St. Patrick school hall Monday evening. A large crowd attended.

Honors at schafkopf went to Mrs. George Schultz, John Klaus and Mrs. Henry Heise; in which to Mrs. C. B. Jinks; and in bridge to Mrs. H. R. Baer and Mrs. C. H. Smith.

Germania Benevolent society met in Menasha auditorium Monday evening. Routine business was transacted.

The Victory club was entertained at the home of Mrs. S. Heup Monday evening. Honors at cards went to Mrs. S. Heup, Miss Emma Grossel, and Mrs. Anna Fahrback.

NEW ORDINANCE PUTS 5 MEMBERS ON PARK BOARD

Appointments to Be Made by Mayor, Subject to Council Confirmation

Neenah—An ordinance abolishing the board of park commissioners, consisting of three members, and substituting an ordinance creating a five-member board, was adopted Monday evening by the city council. The new ordinance, which will give the mayor power to appoint the members, subject to confirmation by the council, will be in effect after its publication.

For years the city has been operating its park commission under the old ordinance. A new statute provides for five members. The mayor can reappoint the present three men if he sees fit on the new board. It was pointed out, all aldermen except Hanson of the Fourth ward favored the new measure.

A motion to secure chairs for approximately 200 new chairs for the city hall auditorium was passed. The committee on parks and public buildings will recommend a purchase at the next meeting. Mrs. Stuart reported that the Tuesday club plans a series of open meetings in the auditorium.

Will Sell Property
The mayor and clerk were authorized to sell a piece of city land 60 by 125 feet to a Waupaca man who will erect a building there to be used as a laundry.

John O'Leary, city attorney, reported the results of the supreme court action on the proposed Municipal court in Neenah and Menasha. He said the act was held void, unenforceable and impracticable, and that the writ of mandamus had been quashed.

August Rapprager, S. Commercial street, claimed assessments for his water mains are too high. The commission he claimed had rebated the cost of 60 feet of the 270 feet, which he owns, where he had expected a rebate on 120 feet because his property is on a dead end. The matter was referred to the water committee.

The finance committee reported on bills totaling $7,275.23, which were authorized by the city council. Light on Higgins-ave between Orange and Spruce-sts was referred to the board of public works.

Disposition of ashes during the winter was discussed. This is not a job for the garbage collector, it was pointed out, although he can, with pay, haul away ashes at his own convenience. Tin cans and other garbage, it was stated, can be included in regular garbage. Private collectors can haul away ashes where they are hired to do so.

HIGHS PREPARE FOR TILT WITH KEWAUNEE

Menasha—The Menasha high school grid squad, Northeastern league leaders Monday began a week's preparation for a clash with Kewaunee high school eleven at Kewaunee Saturday afternoon. The game will be the fourth conference game for the Caldermen this season.

Several first string performers, unable to play last week because of injuries, are expected to reappear in the lineup for the Kewaunee game. The week's practice will be devoted largely to signal drills and rehearsals in aerial offensive and defensive tactics.

In three conference tilts played so far the Caldermen have defeated Kaukauna and New London and told East Deerp.

MALOUF BOWLS 652 IN SCRATCH LEAGUE

Menasha—Topping 652 pins in three games, Michael Malouf was pace setter for Menasha, major scratch league bowlers on Monday night. His single game scores were 233, 235 and 184. His team, the Malouf Barbers, won three straight games from the Koney Crack Shots.

H. Leopold, scoring a 603 series, led the Blue Bills to wins in two out of three games with the Shamrocks. The Hendy Trio won two out of three games with the Rippl Grocers, and the Fahrback Agency defeated the Pankratz Fuels in two out of three games.

SCOUTS TO CONTINUE WORK ON CLUB ROOMS

Menasha—Boy scouts of Troop 3, St. Thomas Episcopal parish, will continue work on their new club rooms in the rear of the parish house at a regular meeting Tuesday evening. Don Rutsch, scout master, will direct activities.

BELIEVE MAN WHO DISAPPEARED FROM HOME IS IN SOUTH

Neenah—Hope that Reid W. Schoonover, Oshkosh, formerly of Neenah, who disappeared Sept. 21 on the eve of his wedding, has at last been located, was renewed Monday when a telegram was received by relatives from the chief of police at Guthrie, Okla., saying that a young man answering Schoonover's description and possessing some papers bearing Schoonover's name, had been taken into custody there for questioning.

According to the telegram from Guthrie, the young man at first gave the name of W. R. Synn, but later told the officials "his name is really Schoonover." The description in the telegram tallies almost identical with that of the missing young man. Further check is to be made.

There was among other articles on his person a newspaper clipping which read "Police Fear Foul Play" and contained the information that the missing young man was to have been married to an Oshkosh girl. The papers also contained the marriage license which was numbered 300.

A motion to secure chairs for approximately 200 new chairs for the city hall auditorium was passed. The committee on parks and public buildings will recommend a purchase at the next meeting. Mrs. Stuart reported that the Tuesday club plans a series of open meetings in the auditorium.

Will Sell Property
The mayor and clerk were authorized to sell a piece of city land 60 by 125 feet to a Waupaca man who will erect a building there to be used as a laundry.

John O'Leary, city attorney, reported the results of the supreme court action on the proposed Municipal court in Neenah and Menasha. He said the act was held void, unenforceable and impracticable, and that the writ of mandamus had been quashed.

The finance committee reported on bills totaling $7,275.23, which were authorized by the city council. Light on Higgins-ave between Orange and Spruce-sts was referred to the board of public works.

Disposition of ashes during the winter was discussed. This is not a job for the garbage collector, it was pointed out, although he can, with pay, haul away ashes at his own convenience. Tin cans and other garbage, it was stated, can be included in regular garbage. Private collectors can haul away ashes where they are hired to do so.

In three conference tilts played so far the Caldermen have defeated Kaukauna and New London and told East Deerp.

NEENAH PERSONALS

Neenah—Mrs. Ronald Rogers and T. D. Smith attended a medical meeting Monday at Milwaukee.

John Nelson returned Monday from Madison where he spent the past few days visiting Elmer Radtke, who is attending the University of Wisconsin.

Billy Burnside has returned to his studies at Wayland academy at Beaver Dam after spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Ida Burnside.

A daughter was born Tuesday at Theda Clark hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hopfensperger, Menasha.

Charles Sage of New York is here on a business visit.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

FRED COATS
Neenah—The body of Fred Coats, 52, who died Monday at Newberry, Mich., will be brought to Neenah for burial. The funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at Oak Hill cemetery chapel.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN 2 MURDERS IN CALIFORNIA

Brother Admits Sister Confessed Guilt in "Trunk Slayings"

Judd and her husband, and to the police department as a quantity of the victims, each of whom apparently had been shot.

After discovery of the bodies, one of which was dismembered, police found a suitcase in a restroom containing a portion of one of the torsos.

Lived With Victims?
Officers here were informed that Mrs. Judd had lived with the two women or had been associated with them in Phoenix.

In Mrs. Judd's apartment at Phoenix was found a letter to her signed W. C. J., her husband's initials, saying:

"I don't want to write a letter to you about the Sammys. Sammys are nice and Miss Leral to read, I hope you will let me know as soon as you can what the chances are of your clinic closing or your doctors quitting. I hate to think of you being alone."

The larger trunk contained a flat bundle addressed to "Miss Hedvig Samuelson," from Juneau, Alaska, and letters and Christmas cards bearing the signatures of H. M. Main and "Laura Taylor," all addressing her affectionately as "Sammy."

Miss Samuelson taught school in Juneau two years, returning about a year ago to the United States. Friends said she was in Phoenix for her health.

Arthur V. Anderson, district baggage agent for the Southern Pacific system, said he ordered the trunks held after employees noted blood was seeping from one.

Two Claim Trunks
A man and woman, later identified by police as Mrs. Judd and McKinnell, presented the claim checks several hours later. Anderson asked the woman what the trunks contained and she immediately replied they were filled with clothing.

To Anderson's suggestion that the trunks be opened and examined, the woman said she did not have the keys in her possession but would telephone her husband to bring them. She made a telephone call but received no answer, whereupon she announced she would go after the keys herself.

The man and woman went away. Anderson said. After waiting four hours for them to return, an employee called the police. The larger trunk contained the body of one of the women and the head and limbs of another. The small trunk yielded a portion of torso and the suitcase found later in the restroom bore the remainder of the gruesome dismemberment.

JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB HAS PROGRAM MEETING

Neenah—The Nevin Junior Music club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Annette Matheson, Church-st. Following a short business session a program was presented. It consisted of singing "America the Beautiful," accompanied on the piano by Josephine Oberst. Willard Luedtke played a piano solo. "Under the Elm Tree." A record was reproduced to illustrate dramatic singing. This was followed by a paper by Donald Mitchell, giving the biography of Fritz Kreisler, violinist. Two numbers by Kreisler were played by Lorene West Roberts, followed by a reading, "Playing for Others," by Gretchen Fuechsel.

ELECTIONS TO DECIDE FATES OF 2 PARTIES

Democrats Have Good Chance of Organizing Houses of Congress

Washington — (AP) — Decisions which may have important echoes in national politics will be made by the voters two weeks from today, when three states elect governors and five vacancies are filled in the house of representatives.

Although the issues are preponderantly local and only scattered sections will vote at all, the situation has three aspects related to the national picture.

With the house standing today 214 Republicans, 214 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor, an upset in any district in favor of the Democrats might well mean a Democratic house. Three of the five districts electing are traditionally Republican and two are traditionally Democratic.

Should a Democrat be elected governor of New Jersey and should he decide to call a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Morrow, it might mean a Democratic senate. The membership stands today 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor. Governor Larson of New Jersey, is expected to appoint a Republican successor to Senator Morrow before congress convenes.

Overwhelming victory or defeat for the constitutional amendments sponsored in New York state by Governor Roosevelt—and particularly the amendment opposed by former Governor Smith—would be hailed as an important commentary on Roosevelt's candidacy for President.

New Leaders Probable Finally, the emergence of some new political leader always is a possibility when elections are held in time of unsettlement. Already the friends of former Governor Moore of New Jersey are talking about a Democratic presidential nomination for him if he again lands in the governor's chair at Trenton.

Besides New Jersey, the states electing governors on Nov. 3 are Kentucky, where a hard-fought campaign is in progress on local issues, and Mississippi, where the democrats always have a walk-over. Several other states will choose minor officials and hold municipal and county elections and others, like New York, will vote for constitutional amendments.

In their effort to pick up the one needed congressman, the Democrats are centering on the First Ohio district, represented so long by the late Nicholas Longworth and the Eighth Michigan, also traditionally Republican. Few expect any upset in the usually Democratic Seventh New York and Twentieth Ohio, or the usually Republican Second Pennsylvania.

The death this week of Representative Ernest R. Ackerman, of New Jersey, injected further difficulties into the question of house control. Careful examination is being made of legal procedure to determine the time required for calling a special session. Acting Governor Wobler said every effort will be made to have Ackerman's normally Republican district re-elected at the opening of the next congress.

SET DATE FOR TRIAL OF HORTONVILLE MAN

Harry Collar, Hortonville, who is charged with shooting game after sundown, waived preliminary hearing in municipal court at Oshkosh yesterday and trial was set for Nov. 4. A jury is to be selected Nov. 2. Collar was brought into court on Oct. 12 and charged with shooting ducks after sundown on Lake Poygan on Oct. 4.

SEYMOUR WOMAN HURT IN OSHKOSH ACCIDENT

Mrs. E. H. Hawkins, Seymour, received minor injuries in a collision Saturday at Oshkosh. Mrs. Hawkins and her husband were going south on Jackson-dr. as Miss Jennie Seeley attempted to make a left turn on to Jackson-dr from High-st when the accident occurred. Mrs. Hawkins was treated at Mercy hospital at Oshkosh and then taken to her home.

How To Stop Offensive Foot Odors

If you want to get rid of foot odors for good and all, just rub your feet with Moore's Emerald Oil at bedtime.

It's nothing short of miraculous the way it neutralizes offensive, burning perspiration and overcomes all unpleasant odors from the second you apply it.

And it's so refreshing! Takes the sting right out of tired, hot feet, and rests them wonderfully.

Schlitz Bros. Co. 3 Stores says Emerald Oil will end your foot troubles or he won't keep your money. You can have every penny of it back if you don't get relief.

BOOTS OUTLIVE THEIR OWNER AFTER SERVING HIM FOR 73 YEARS

Pleasant Hill, Mo. — (AP) — Jacob Miller, 93, who owned one pair of red-topped dress boots 73 years, is dead. The boots are still in condition for service.

Miller, who succumbed yesterday, paid John Hansworth, the maker, $5 for the boots at Mifflinburg, Pa., in 1858. They still have the original soles and heels.

Members of the family said Miller had worn the boots at least once a week since he purchased them and every day for the last four years up to the time of his final illness.

2 ECONOMICS MEETS SET FOR THIS WEEK

Program for Coming Winter Will Be Outlined by Leaders

Two of a series of four general meetings for women of Outagamie-co are scheduled this week by Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent. The women will discuss plans for the home economics program in the county next winter and the organization of clubs. Last year there were some 500 women in clubs. Miss Thompson hopes the membership mark will be exceeded this year.

The first meeting will be held Thursday at the Appleton Women's club here, and the second will be held Friday at the high school in Shiocton. Next week Monday there will be a meeting at the Methodist church basement at Seymour and Tuesday there will be a meeting at Legion hall in New London.

The meetings will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A picnic lunch will be served at noon. Miss Thompson will present a lesson in how to make inexpensive gifts for Christmas.

Miss Thompson is urging all women who were club members last year and all those who are interested in joining a club this year to attend one of the district sessions.

13-YEAR-OLD DEBT IS FASTER THAN HORSES

Chicago — (AP) — A 13-year-old debt overtook the race horses of Peter B. Kyne, the author, yesterday at Hawthorne track—and the nags are not so slow either.

They were just bounding up the runway into a railroad car to leave the track when a deputy sheriff and attorney representing B. G. Sherman sprang upon them. Sherman's story was that Kyne, then a captain in the army, suddenly needed 5,000 francs after the armistice in Bordeaux and that he advanced the sum on an I. O. U. payable when Kyne arrived home.

"Ever since then I've been trying to catch up with him," Sherman said. Yesterday he learned the horses were here and swore out a writ of attachment.

The race between the deputy and attorney on one side and the horses then got underway—though the horses didn't know it—and his entries were seized. Sherman $853, the amount of the debt. Kyne in New York ordered the money advanced to release his ponies.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

DRAWING INCORRECT INFERENCES

The language of Contract bidding is beautiful indeed. Partners, whose cars are attuned to evaluate correctly the responses they receive to their bids and fit the knowledge so obtained into the facts as to hono- r- tricks and distribution shown by their own hands, are able to make bids at the Contract table that to other players seem daring, perhaps foolhardy, but that are actually safe and in accordance with the best practice of expert players. Duplicate Contract, because it affords a comparative test of competitive play, is the favorite proving-ground of Contract theories. No theory of bidding is good unless, at the Contract table, it can be converted into a winning game.

The hand which furnishes the text of today's article was played in the recent Masters' Pair tournament for the von Zedtwitz gold cup. This tournament was held at Asbury Park, New Jersey, last July.

1—East, Fourth Hand, holding 4 honor-tricks, opens the bidding.

2—It would be foolhardy for South to overcall in view of the fact that North and South are vulnerable. It is true his hand contains a six-card suit and a probable trick in clubs, but a set of 2 tricks would be a high price to pay, in view of the score, for defeating a non-vulnerable game. Furthermore, South is not even sure that a game will be bid or that if it is bid, it will be made.

3—A strong rebid, as it may force West to a three club contract, if he lacks support for hearts and is again un-

It was thought that the blaze started from a spark from the chimney. Firemen put out the blaze, although it had eaten through the roof into the attic. They worked for about half an hour before getting the blaze under control.

BACK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN NEW LONDON

Secretary of Plymouth Organization Addresses Business Leaders

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London — Organization of a chamber of commerce was discussed by Milton Timm, secretary of the Plymouth chamber, before an audience made up of service club members and business men following a dinner at Legion hall Monday night. The meeting had been planned with the idea of organizing a similar association here. About 125 men were present. F. L. Zaug was chairman. Mr. Timm, stating that the salary of the secretary of the Plymouth chamber is $2,800, believed that New London should be supported by three hundred members, contributing $3 each annually, this to make up the salary of $3,000 for the secretary. He stated that the usual method of forming the executive body of a chamber is to elect a board of directors, three members of which would be elected for one year, three for two years, and three for three years. This board would have the power to elect other officers which would comprise membership, civic, legislative, and endorsement committee. This last group would be made up of six members, three of whom would be unknown to the other three. In addition there would be a convention bureau and a like department for employment, automotive, credit, and credit. Mr. Timm spoke of some length of credit evils. Local residents gave their opinions regarding the proposed movement. Those speaking were W. J. Butler, George Ribbany, George Polzin, Harry Cristy, J. F. Bentz, G. A. Vandree, P. R. Smith, J. F. Seering, Emil Gehlke, J. E. Burns, M. C. Trayser, C. E. Kellogg, W. W. Krause, Emil Hamilton, F. E. Lowell, A. L. Severance, M. J. Meinz, Frank Jennings, Dr. C. D. Hemmy, R. J. McMahon, Harold Dahlke and Raymond Prah, leaders of the three service organizations, the Rotary and Lions clubs and American Legion, spoke briefly on behalf of their clubs, saying that they would give whatever support seemed necessary for furthering the interests of the chamber. Edwin Pace, California, a guest of M. C. Trayser, and a former resident of this city, also spoke. No decision was reached as to whether the chamber will become a reality. It is expected that another meeting will be held soon. On a short dinner program an orchestra played under the direction of O. J. Hohl. Miss Joan Scanlon accompanied during the singing of two solos by Francis Secord.

CITY MUST LAY NEW SEWER ON DORR-ST

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London — That the sewer repair job on Dorrr-st is more complicated than was at first believed has been brought out since the entire block has been dug up. Albert Gesso of the street commission found that the sewer is of single tile instead of double tile as is usually used. Along the entire top a crack which had become filled with gravel and soil, was discovered. The sewer is being relaid. Disposal of the Dorrr-st sewage was solved by the use of a pumping machine, which conveys the sewerage to a nearby field.

WIDENING STARTED ON ROAD AT FREMONT

Mile Between Steiger Farm and Wolf's Corners-Under Construction

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Fremont—The construction work is under way for widening the mile of depot road from the Alpheus Steiger farm to Frank Wolf's corner. The road will be later covered with crushed rock.

Four Wheel Drive Team In Win Over Menominee, 7-6

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Clintonville—In one of the hardest fought games played by the Four Wheel Drive football squad this season, the truckbuilders defeated Menominee, Mich., 7 to 6 on the Menominee gridiron Sunday afternoon. More than 150 local fans accompanied the team.
It was nobody's game until well into the fourth quarter, when Menominee opened up their aerial attack and completed a long pass from their 40 yard line for a touchdown. Their kick for the extra point failed, leaving the score 6 to 0. The Four Wheel Drive team took the ball and in eight minutes hammered their way from the center of the field for a touchdown, Kruse carrying the ball for the last three yards. The kick for the extra point by Graney added the winning score. Clintonville completed six first downs, while Menominee had four. No conference game is scheduled for the P. W. D. griders next Sunday, but negotiations are under way for a game with some nearby city. The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Della Fritzen was celebrated Saturday at her home in this city.

DAILY SHIPMENT OF BEETS IS 50 TONS

Despite Drought Crop Is Average; Shipping to Continue Through November

Chilton — During the past week about 50 tons of sugar beets were shipped daily to the Menominee Sugar Beet Co. in Green Bay, and it is expected that shipping of beets will not be completed until the end of November. The crop is average, in spite of the drought of the summer, as the beets grew a great deal during the past few weeks. Some of the beets brought in have weighed as much as eight pounds. Sixty-six farmers have contracted to deliver beets here this fall.
Farmers have almost finished digging their potatoes. The potato crop, which threatened to be very poor, is average and better, due to the rains and warm weather of the past few weeks.
Circuit court opened on Monday morning, Judge Fred Beglinsing of Oshkosh presiding. It is expected that court will continue for several weeks.
The Rev. H. Stanton of Sheboygan Falls conducted services in St. Boniface Episcopal church Sunday morning in the absence of the rector the Rev. Harold Keyes. The latter is reported to be recovering from his recent illness.
The Rev. J. W. MacElree of the Kiel, Freystatian church conducted services at this city Sunday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Arps motored to Chicago Sunday for a three-day visit with friends.
The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Gritter, Sr. who died at her home Thursday, was conducted from St. Mary church at 10 o'clock Monday morning by the Rev. E. E. Hunk. Burial was in St. Mary cemetery. Bearers were Louis Stark, Paul Blenert, John Reinkeber and John Buhl. Many out of town relatives and friends were in attendance.
The Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. George Goggins Monday afternoon, the hostesses being Mrs. Goggins and Mrs. Roland Tesch. Mrs. Gerhard Jensen gave a talk on county institutions, and Assemblyman Jerome Fox discussed county government. Two new members were added to the club.
The local talent play "An Arizona Cowboy" produced here Oct. 6 and 7 was so successful that it will be produced in several other places. It will be given at Darboy, Oct. 27 under the auspices of the Holy Angels Society. The play was sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary and was directed by Patrick Cole, a member of the Legion. It is probable that the play will also be produced at Wrightstown, Plymouth, Reedsville and Valders.
Mrs. Frank Tesch and daughter Gertrude visited friends in Madison Monday and Tuesday.

CATTLE AT ROYALTON DYING FROM BLOAT

Royalton—A third crop of alfalfa has matured in this county this fall, but "what is one animal's feed is another's poison it seems."
Many farmers have found they cannot use it for pasture as they have sustained heavy losses of stock. They apparently die from bloat when pastured in alfalfa fields.
One farmer's theory is that if cattle were kept continuously on alfalfa pasture they would not bloat, that it was only from greediness of short hours of feeding that caused fatalities.

CITY PROMISED AID IN WORK ON NEW APPROACH

Improvement to Get Under Way at Once Because of Lateness of Season

Kaukauna—C. H. Kirch, chief bridge engineer of the Wisconsin State highway commission, assured the special committee sent to Madison Saturday to seek aid on improvement of the approach to the new Lawest bridge that the state would cooperate with the city in the work. Because of the lateness of the season, work will be started on the improvement immediately.

Frank M. Charlesworth, city engineer, presented plans for the improvement of the approach. The plans included a bridge across the power canal, which will be built at a later date. Joseph Lefevre, city attorney, and Alderman George L. Smith were the other committee members.

According to the present plans the C. R. Meyer Construction Co. will improve the corner. All of the old concrete at the present intersection will be torn up and the curve will be eliminated. A considerable amount of filling on the east side of the corner will have to be done and a small grade in the present intersection will be removed. The sidewalk will be set back about 20 feet and the roadway will be widened to 40 feet to provide parking space. Removal of the old concrete will be started immediately. South road district workmen already have started work on the wall along the side of the tailrace. Gravel from the approach to the bridge was used to fill in along the wall and the road. The remainder of the filling will be hauled in by the city.

While it is likely that Main-ave will have to be closed to through traffic, there is a possibility of allowing one way traffic through the intersection. Traffic on Highway 66 would have to be routed over Island-st and Dodge-st, back to Main-st. The concrete at the intersection will be torn up this week.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Kaukauna—The kitchen committee of Brook Memorial Methodist Episcopal church will serve a lunch in Epworth Home from 11:30 Wednesday morning until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Ed Dericks entertained the Monday Night Bridge club at her home on Doty-st. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ed King and Mrs. Otto Busse. A lunch was served.

Trinity Dramatic club of Trinity Evangelical church will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the Lutheran school house. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

St. Anne Court No. 226, Catholic Order of Foresters, will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening instead of at 8 o'clock because of their guest card party. After cards a lunch will be served.

Members of St. Mary Court No. 118 went to the home of Dr. W. N. Nolan Monday evening where they recited the rosary.

Choir members of Immanuel Reformed church will meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening for weekly rehearsal.

The American legion auxiliary met in the legion clubrooms on Oak-st Monday evening. Routine business was transacted.

The Kaukauna Golf club is sponsoring a dance at the Nitingale ball room Wednesday evening. Proceeds will be turned into the club treasury.

KUBITZ AND DARLING GRID GAME OFFICIALS

Kaukauna—Kubitz and Darling will officiate at the Kaukauna-East DePere football game here next Saturday. Kubitz has refereed a number of Kaukauna's games. Darling, a newcomer here, was umpire in the Shawano game.

Coach Paul E. Little gave his regulars a rest Monday night, but worked with the second team and the B squad. The squad will begin its workout for the East DePere game Tuesday evening. Although Neenah was victorious over the DePere team Coach Little is anticipating a real battle as it will be the first meeting with the downriver team for several years.

PREPARE CROOKS-AVE FOR PAVING PROGRAM

Kaukauna—Crews of the Ray McCarty Construction Co. are preparing Crooks-ave for paving. Grading was started Monday and during the day forms and steel for the concrete work were being hauled. A large steam shovel is used to remove elevations in the roadbed and to widen the road. The workmen expect to pour concrete this week. The work will have to be hurried along because of the lateness of the season. Forty working days were specified in the contract. Most of the labor used on the job will be local men.

CREW REPAIRS HOLES ON BRIDGE ROADBED

Kaukauna—Workmen of the south road district repaired several holes in the roadbed of the small bridge across the power canal near the public library. The holes were filled with concrete. Heavy traffic over the bridge causes the stone to become loosened.

SCOUT TROOP MEETS

Kaukauna—Boy Scout Troop No. 20 met in the auditorium of Park school Monday evening. Routine business was carried on under direction of Rev. H. J. Lane, scoutmaster. The scouts are planning repair of old toys, which will be distributed to the city poor children at Christmas time.

CIGERO FARMERS BUSY WITH MANY FALL ACTIVITIES

Plowing, Harvesting Potatoes and Cabbage Occupy Time of Most

BY W. F. WINSEY

Black Creek—Farmers of the town of Cicero are finishing their fall plowing, digging potatoes, and hauling some cabbage. They have enough fall pasture, silos nearly all filled with corn and less than the usual quantity of hay. Some of their spring seedling of alfalfa and mixtures of red clover and timothy failed and the fields have been plowed. Spring seedlings of sweet clover are very promising. Farmers who lost their spring seedling of red clover and alfalfa will depend next summer on old meadows and pastures for hay and pasture. A number of farmers have had trouble curing alfalfa hay, alfalfa seed and soybean hay this fall.

Fred Drephal was digging potatoes Saturday. While he has filled two silos with corn, one 12 by 34 feet and the other 12 by 30 feet, and has a five-acre surplus left to husk. His hay crop was not up to his usual yield. H. has already fattened 30 hogs on his corn crop of this year. He says that his hay crop this year is the lightest since he started farming.

He plowed down his spring seedling of red clover and will depend upon old seedlings of red clover and timothy for hay next summer.

Henry Mielke, town of Cicero, has finished his fall plowing. He recently filled his silo, 12 by 37 feet, with corn but had no surplus left. He got his hay from a 10-acre field of alfalfa and a five-acre field of a mixture of red clover and timothy. Last spring he seeded a 10-acre field with alfalfa, and another 10-acre field with a mixture of red clover and timothy. While his alfalfa seedling is promising, he plowed his red clover and timothy field. He expects to retain his old meadows and pasture fields for service next summer. Mr. Mielke recently gave his stables a coat of whitewash.

Herman Gagnow, town of Cicero, was hauling cabbage and plowing a 10-acre field of sod last week. He expects to have hay enough from a mixture of sweet clover, alfalfa and timothy.

Emil Mueller, town of Cicero, lately cut six acres of soybeans and got eight large loads. With his soybeans added to his other crop he expects to have enough hay. He has filled

REPORT BOOTLEGGING OF FISH FROM CANADA

Superior—(AP)—"Fish-running" across the Canadian border into cities on the Great Lakes is reported by the American Game association with conservation officers of the states on the Great Lakes seeking to halt the illegal operations. The association in reporting that bootlegging from Canada is not confined to liquor, reported that perch may be taken legally on the Ontario side of the Detroit river, but the American side is closed to perch fishing and the sale or importation of these fish.

As a result of the illegal operation, the prices received for smuggling perch has peaked to a relatively attractive figure, it is reported.

Fishing regulations of Wisconsin, Ohio and Michigan also are said to be so much in variance that a fish which is safe in Michigan waters may swim directly across the lake and be taken legally, then make the trip back to Michigan on ice and be confiscated because its length is eight and a half inches instead of nine.

No concerted action has been launched by Minnesota officials to halt operations, if they are being

Examinations And Homecoming Face Lawrence Football Squad

RIPON SHOWS IN FEATURE OF ANNUAL REUNION

Crimson Eleven Enthusiastic Over Cornell Victory Last Saturday

EXAMINATIONS and homecoming, a fine combination of events in any man's school, will occupy the attention of Lawrence college students this weekend, and the football team in particular. Enthusiastic over their victory over Carroll last Saturday afternoon, the Vike gridders started drills yesterday for the feature attraction of homecoming, the annual Lawrence-Ripon football game. Last night's workout was comparatively light, attention being paid to a review of activities Saturday.

The team came through Saturday's contest fairly well mused up. Gebhardt, blocking half back and Fahres, guard who also ran interference and who backed up the line on defense, both are battered to the point where they won't be ready for hard work for another few days, aside from that no injuries of serious nature were reported.

But while the Vikes are enthusiastic over the Carroll victory they are forgetting the Pioneers now and priming for Ripon, an admittedly stronger team than Carroll.

The examinations for the six week period are supposed to be staggered this weekend in several classes despite the fact marks are not due in the college office until Oct. 31. But the professors must have their little fun along with the students and usually the students get the better end of the deal. Also, the combination of events this weekend is likely to leave a couple gridders stranded on the shoal of ineffectuality about Nov. 1.

Ripon—Only partially recovered from their unexpected 7 to 0 victory over the powerful Cornell college, eleven, rated by Midwest conference experts as the best in the league, Coach Dick Dohling's Ripon Redmen Monday began a week's schedule of stiff workouts in preparation for the Lawrence college Vikings at Appleton next Saturday.

The smashing offensive and brilliant defensive work of the Redmen in the Cornell fracas had its effect on an inspired eleven. Monday found the varsity working busily and only the reserves were called upon to work against the yearlings. All first string candidates, save "Cy" Holmes and Art Showers, were back in fold Tuesday, Coach Dohling said Monday.

Showers became the victim Friday of an injury jinx which has followed him throughout the first half of the season. Just prior to the Cornell tilt, he wrenched his back and again will grace the sidelines for another week. Holmes is suffering from an intense cold which makes him a temporary casualty.

Elated over showing of his Crimson line, which held Saturday's invaders three different times on downs within the 4 yard line, Coach Dohling said Monday that he had never seen such remarkable improvement in a Ripon line in one week as that which held Cornell after the disappointing Marquette showing. Every candidate was given a word of praise, but especial mention was made of the brilliant defensive work of Mator, Hulka, Chestnut and the formidable Runo Anderson, fullback, who was a veritable stone wall for the Cornell offense.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A GREAT many big league men thought that Outfielder Mel Simons would click in the majors... Donie Bush, former manager of the White Sox, was one of them... and the chance that Bush gave Simons is one of the chief reasons why Bush is a former manager today... Comiskey was very indignant about Simons' flop... something like $25,000 and a couple of ball players had been turned over to Louisville for the young man... After Bush gave Simons every chance, which Mel booted in the grand manner, Comiskey publicly criticized the acumen of Donie... so Bush sped his resignation to the proper sources... and Lew Fonseca became manager of the White Sox.

"Little Joe" Does Some Scoring

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

Wisconsin

LOWLY but surely the country is recovering from the weekend's end's football scores and the said country has a beautiful headache.

One of the most potent shots of the weekend was the Wisconsin victory over Purdue, a victory that took the Badgers just 10 minutes to get hold of and put away in the archives.

Picked as the underdog, the Badgers went onto Camp Randall field pepped up and enthusiastic over their chances. Came the first chance and they grabbed it; the second and they grabbed that; the third and they also grabbed that. They tried several times thereafter but failed to click and who cared.

Defensively they held their own against the Bollermakers in the third period. True, Purdue scored two touchdowns in that period but if we are to believe some of the boys who saw the game, those two markers might just as well have been dropped forward passes. There was just that much difference between failure and success.

But the old football season isn't over, not by a long shot and the fans shouldn't get too "hot" about the Badgers. Saturday the team goes to Pennsylvania and maybe Penn will do to the Badgers what the Badgers did to Penn last year—if the Crimson doesn't settle down.

However, indications are "Thifty" has a nice aggregation this season, a lot of power in the line and in the backfield. His ends seem to be the weakest link.

Sports Question Box

Q—Did the knockout Jack Gagnon scored over Tuffy Griffiths have any effect on Griffith's rise in the game?
A.—No, Griffith had the satisfaction of whipping Gagnon in a return bout and is still a formidable heavyweight while Gagnon is definitely through.

Q—Did Eddie Casey the Harvard coach ever play under Percy Haughton?
A. Yes, in 1916.

Q—Are double headers purposely created in a regular schedule when the first draft of the schedule is made public?
A. Occasionally. It is not always possible to arrange dates, because of the long distance between cities, and without making a double header necessary in some city.

CANZONERI DRAWS CHOCOLATE NOV. 20

New York. —(P)—Three titles may be at stake when Tony Canzoneri and Kid Chocolate clash in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden, Nov. 20.

Canzoneri's lightweight and junior welterweight championships are certain to be on the block and if Tony should make 130 pounds Chocolate will be crowning the junior lightweight crown he won from Benny Bass. Canzoneri should have no difficulty making the 130-pound limit for he rarely scales more than 131 or 132.

Tony, who won the lightweight championship by knocking out Al Singer here last winter, added the junior welterweight title to his list when he knocked out Jack (Kid) Berg at Chicago in his first lightweight championship defense. He defended both titles against Berg here several months ago and again trounced the Englishman.

MAIER HURT; CAN'T BATTLE LEW SCOZZA

Milwaukee —(P)—An injury suffered by Dave Maier last week in fighting Johnny Saunders at Janesville has prompted the cancellation of the bout between Maier and Lew Scozza, scheduled at the auditorium here Oct. 26.

Lawrence

Old Man Enthusiasm was stirred up around the Lawrence campus Saturday and perhaps things will take on a gay aspect again, at least for a few days. For those Vikings went out on the P. M. in question and smacked the husky Carroll college eleven for a goal, nay, two goals and a victory.

Battling as we haven't seen a Lawrence team battle in years, the Vikes now give indications of accomplishing a lot this season if they can have an even break on the weather, and a dry field for every afternoon's toil. Anything except a dry field will mean defeat for the team.

Comparing the Vikings with others in recent years we don't feel they have received any better coaching, nor any more time from their coaches. But they have received from Coach Clapp, part of Percy's pugnacious attitude toward this grid game and a demand they do everything viciously and just as hard as they would in the most bitterly fought game of the season.

Go out on the Lawrence field any night in the week and you'll see the boys going through drills giving everything—or taking a tongue lashing from Clapp. They didn't like it at first, but now they wouldn't do without it.

When they line up for drills on the practice grid they smack each other or tackle just as hard as they do in a game; they hit the dummy just as hard as they hit opposing linemen, and it's bringing results.

For instance we've seen certain Lawrence ends hit the dummy, simulating a player on a certain type offense formation, so hard that they stopped rolling they'd be ten feet away. And when they get into a game they smack the opposition just that hard and get first downs. The one instance is a perfect example of all coaching demands of Coach Clapp. And as we said before, Percy is getting somewhere with material that early in the fall looked as though it couldn't lick a feather duster.

But Saturday's another day and another opponent, and it's homecoming. Ripon comes here for the feature attraction of the afternoon, a team that will be just as big as Carroll and a bit better coached. The Carroll game is history and it's all eyes to the front for Ripon—and don't let your enthusiasm run away with you!

And the High School

The telephone switchboard buzzed at the Post-Crescent Saturday afternoon and the inquiry was about the high school. The inquirer was told 42 and 0 in favor of Appleton—and then the operator had to argue with the voice on the other end of the line that such a score with Appleton winning was possible. In other words they hardly believed it.

The count was a surprise, but not a sensational surprise, for this writer has maintained all season the Orange has a doggone good team, a team that should go through the rest of the season undefeated, if Mortell and Peotter are not hurt badly.

Sheboygan will be the next opponent and the game will be the hardest on the Orange schedule for the team is going to feel mighty cocky over Saturday's victory. That leaves Coaches Joe Shields and Merlin Selms with a tough job for this week and we hope they both forget the Manitowoc game and get so tough with the Orange boys all week that they were defeated at Manitowoc. If we may, we'd suggest the mentors start fundamentals for the first couple rights and drill, drill, drill all week. That's one way to work off a glorious feeling after a glorious weekend.

Sheboygan has been kicked around a bit this season but the team beat Marinette the other day and Marinette in turn trimmed Oshkosh. All of which indicates the Chairs can be a tough nut if they choose.

FAVOR WOLVES FOR CHARITY GRID GAME

Poll of Wisconsin Students Puts Michigan First, Iowa Second

Madison —(P)— Michigan was favored as a possible opponent for Wisconsin in a post season charity game by students at the University of Wisconsin who showed their preference in a poll conducted by the Daily Cardinal, student newspaper.

Iowa ran second in the balloting and had led the field until the day the voting ended. But a charity game between Wisconsin and Marquette university of Milwaukee has provoked the most discussion.

The university board of regents last week voted unanimously in favor of a Marquette-Wisconsin game if Western conference rules permit such an encounter. The university athletic council was scheduled to meet this week to grapple with the problem. Should the conference of schools permit Big Ten teams to meet non-conference teams in post season games, Marquette would be unable to play Wisconsin until Dec. 5.

Wisconsin completes its season Nov. 21 and Marquette plays its last game with Drake at Des Moines on Thanksgiving Day. With only one day intervening before Nov. 23 a Marquette-Wisconsin game would necessarily have to be played the following Saturday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE MAY ADOPT N. L. BALL

Chicago — (P) — When the 1932 major league season rolls around the American league may be using the style of baseball adopted by the National league last season.

President William Harridge is collecting opinions and comment and at the annual meeting of the league next month, may recommend a change to the sphere with the embossed seams and thicker hit. The junior circuit last year changed from the old rabbit ball to one with raised seams, but with the same cover.

The National league club owners, for the most part, were well satisfied with the new ball and the subsequent increase in pitching strength and decrease in number of cheap home runs.

STIRLING RETURNS TO THE RING WARS

Wichita, Kas. — (P) — W. L. "Young" Stirling, Georgia heavyweight who was stopped by Max Schmelling, world champion, at Cleveland in July, celebrated his return to the ring by knocking out Salvatore Ruggiello in the second round of a 10-round bout here last night.

Ruggiello, a 199-pound New York fighter, was dropped to the canvas four times in the brief encounter. Stirling's hair was not disarranged. He weighed 184½.

The only blow to reach the Georgian was a weak right to the head as they came out for the second round. Then Stirling countered with a right, also to the head, to end the fight.

Bears Would Try Ladies' Day

Chicago —(P)—The Chicago Bears of the National pro football league, will give "ladies day" a try Sunday when they meet the Philadelphia Yellowjackets at Wrigley field.

The girls must write to the ladies ticket office at Wrigley field sending self-addressed, stamped envelopes to obtain two free ducats for the game. It will be the first "ladies day" in the history of the league.

FROSH AGAIN MEET ST. JOHN GRIDDEES

Lawrence college freshmen football team will meet St. John Military academy of Delafield Saturday, Oct. 31 at Delafield, according to announcement made yesterday by Viking authorities. Several weeks ago the Vike frosh went down to Delafield and played the cadets 0-0 in the mud and rain. The cadets have asked the return tilt in hopes they can erase the tie.

ORANGE REGULARS RESUME PRACTICE

Appleton high school football regulars, excepting three or four, rested last night but today will resume practice sessions for the Sheboygan game at Sheboygan this weekend. Coach Joseph Shields, however, took an afternoon of ease and went out to teach some of his sophomores a few rudiments of the grid game and thereby prepare them for next fall's activity.

The varsity gridders who reported last night were Ruppel, Salm, Neiler and Frank Dean. The latter centered the ball most of the afternoon for Ruppel who is priming for the punting job at Sheboygan.

Indications are the Orange has lost the services of Mortell for Saturday and perhaps the services of Peotter, end. Both suffered knee injuries and will be on the shelf indefinitely. Because Mortell was the Orange triple threat man someone else must immediately be sought to take his place. Ruppel has played fullback this fall and seems the best punter among the backs. He therefore will take the booting assignment, the remainder of Mortell's work being assigned to other backs.

Whether Peotter will be ready Saturday is a question. Bill probably will take the easy way for a couple days and then report. If he appears able to go he'll start. Otherwise Beck probably will be shifted to end and someone else sent into the guard position.

Sheboygan has been getting along fairly well this season. The Chairs started with an inexperienced team that lost its first couple games. Then the club went out and downed Marquette and since then Marinette has beaten Oshkosh. All of which makes the Chairs a team to be feared.

L IKE Bowlers in the Knights of Columbus league won two games last night from the Whales and went into a tie with the Pickrel for first place. A 227 by Haug of the Whales beat the Pike in the first game. Then Sheldon rolled 206 to give the Pike a win and the third game was capped on the strength of a 172 by Bass.

Pickrel won the first game from the Perch by seven pins, dropped the second by 100 pins and took the third 933 to 866 when L. Rechner rolled 205.

Sturgeon romped all over the Haddock for three wins. The first saw Brown roll 214 and Hy Strutz 215 for the Sturgeon. Strutz' 207 made up the difference in the second game and Otto's 200 gave the team the two pin margin in the last game.

The Bass had little trouble pounding out a three game win over the Bluefish, Timmers' 180, 181, 148-569 being best effort on the part of the Bass.

Salmon won two games from the Herring, Rechner's 626 being high series. J. Balliet blasted out 178, 212, 170-560 to give the Tarpons two wins over the Sharks who couldn't get much with Schu's average of 87 per game.

Halibuts won the first game from the Mackerel by four pins and then dropped the second. They capped the third 953 to 927. The other game of the evening went to the Trout, two and one. The first score was 966 to 849 for the Trout, the second 834 to 808 for the Codfish and the third 874 to 835 for the Trout.

The South Carolina football team is composed four-fifths of sophomores.

Iowa-born young men constitute 83 per cent of this year's University of Iowa football squad.

Northwestern Can Settle Big Ten Race Saturday With Win Over Ohio State

Notre Dame Drills Hard for Approaching Game With Pittsburgh

BY WILLIAM WEEKES Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO —(P)— With the other summer favorites, Michigan and Purdue, belted out of the championship scheme, Northwestern is faced with the rather unique situation of reaching the climax of its Big Ten season in its first game.

The Wildcats, scoring practice games, have devoted their first three dates to battles with Nebraska, Notre Dame and the University of California's southern branch. Saturday they will tackle as their first conference foe Ohio State, and they probably won't encounter anything tougher than the buckeyes on the rest of their schedule.

If Northwestern gets by Ohio States, there appears to be nothing to prevent another perfect record. Of the remaining four teams on the wildcat schedule, only Illinois right now appears capable of causing trouble. Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa, which follow, should be easy for the Wildcats.

Badgers Threat

A victory for Ohio would not end the Buckeyes' serious troubles, for they must meet Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Either the Illini or the Badgers, and especially the latter after what they did to Purdue last week, might upset the Ohio applecart.

Both Ohio and Northwestern employ the double wingback system of offense and the contest probably will be decided in favor of the club with the strongest line. Northwestern's forwards have been rated as the equals of anything in the midwest, while the work of the Ohio line against Michigan's veteran wall marked it as a pushover for no opponent.

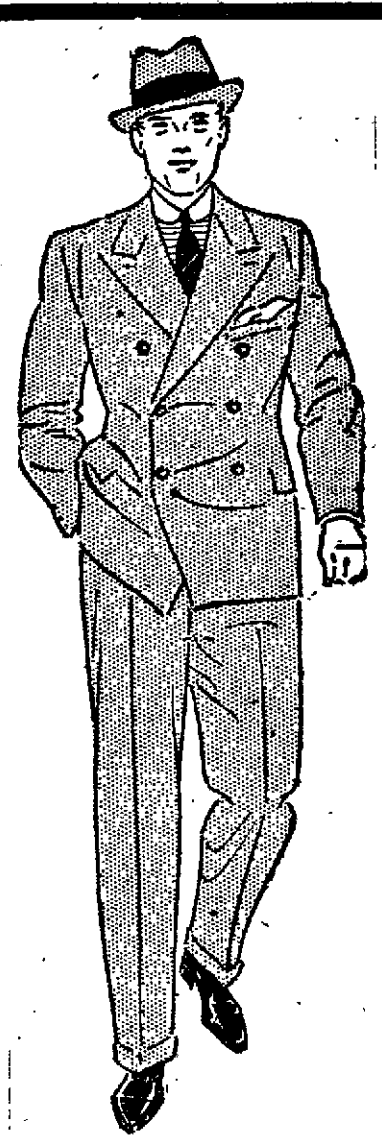

Injuries have dimmed Purdue's hope of scoring a victory for the west over Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh this week. When the roll was called after the Wisconsin defeat, Yungevich and Horstman, fullbacks; White and Pardonner, quarterbacks; Risk and Purvis, halfbacks, and Let-singer and Volnoff, guards, reported injuries of painful nature. Wisconsin got out without casualties and the Badgers will be ripe for a big attempt to make it two in a row over Pennsylvania Saturday. Indiana and Iowa also, emerged from their scoreless tie in good shape, although it was demonstrated that each is woefully shy of capable reserves. The Hoosiers will be in about the same shape as Chicago when they meet Saturday, as far as replacements are concerned.

Iowa will meet Minnesota, but does not figure to win, the Gophers having had two weeks during which to prepare for the contest.

Yost Helps Kipke

Michigan's unexpected defeat by Ohio State has caused Fielding H. Yost to come out of semi-retirement and take a more active part in assisting Harry Kipke prepare for Saturday's match with Illinois. Illinois still is somewhat of a mystery. Bob Zupke not having had time to get his sophomores ready for their best.

Notre Dame has not permitted the 63 to 0 march through Drake make any difference in preparation for Pittsburgh. Coach Hunk Anderson yesterday passed up the regular Monday rest to give his line a thorough going over in preparation of its meeting with Pitt's powerful forwards. Marquette will meet Boston College at Boston Saturday and the Golden Avalanche is being worked overtime by Coach Frank Murray.

THISTY PREPARES BADGER GRIDDERS FOR PENNSYLVANIA

Purdue Veterans Rest Up While Other Members of Squad Scrimmage

Madison—(AP)—The Badgers who saw heavy duty against the strong Purdue football team last weekend took a rest yesterday before starting practice for the inter-sectional tilt with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday.

Thursday evening Wisconsin will be off to play its second game in the east in more than two decades. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite hopes the Badgers will take the Quakers in the stride they assumed in pointing for Purdue.

There was plenty of scrimmage at Camp Randall yesterday even though most of the Badgers who played Purdue were resting. The second, third and fourth string eleven battled for more than an hour in what will probably determine who is to remain on the first squad and who will go to the "B" team. Coach Thistlethwaite let his aides do most of the directing during the scrimmage, being content with doing some appraising of the 50 odd men who make up the crop of this year's aspirants.

George Little, director of athletics, abandoned office routine yesterday and appeared on the field in football togs. Having scouted Pennsylvania in its first two games, Little drilled the freshmen in Penn plays which they will use against the varsity today and tomorrow. The dark blue jerseys of Penn which the frosh backs wore were stamped with the name of Perina. Lewis and other quaker threats who the Badgers will have to watch closely.

Secret practice was abandoned at Camp Randall for two days to permit the public to glimpse the Badgers before leaving for Philadelphia.

PENN WORKS HARD

Philadelphia—(AP)—Pennsylvania started hard work yesterday for the inter-sectional game with Wisconsin.

The regulars were excused after a long session with the bucking machine but the second stringers were sent through a scrimmage. Graupner, hurt in the opening game, was in the second team backfield.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR HOCKEY LOOP PLAY

Toronto, Ont.—(AP)—The eight teams of the National Hockey league will play through a full season's schedule this year just to eliminate two of their number before the championship playoff series begin.

Directors of the league have decided to make no change in the complicated playoff system, involving the three leading teams in each of the circuit's two divisions, despite the fact that the suspension for one year of the Philadelphia and Ottawa franchises has cut the membership from the clubs to eight.

Under the "playoff" system, the leaders in each division at the close of the regular season engage in a series of five games for the league championship. While this is going on the second and third place teams in each group put on an elimination series, the survivor gaining the right to face the league champion for the Stanley cup. With the league reduced to eight teams, only the cellar occupants in each division will not participate in the playoffs.

Shipwreck Kelly, one of the fastest backs in the south, will play for Kentucky at 175 pounds.

Burleigh Grimes Has The Makings Of Good Manager

BY JOHN B. FOSTER.
Copyright 1931
NEW YORK—(CPA)—One of the clubs for which Burleigh Grimes has been suggested as manager in 1932, is Brooklyn.

During the world series observant baseball men found three things to admire in Grimes. One was his skill as a pitcher. Almost the oldest spitball hurler left in the game today, he made the Athletics try for more bad good balls than any other pitcher of the St. Louis team when the Athletics and Cardinals were battling for the 1931 world baseball championship.

A bad good ball is one that passes over a corner of the plate at some point between the knee and shoulder of the batsman, presumably his

ADVERTISING GROUP HAILS CREDIT PLAN

Chicago—(AP)—President Hoover's credit pool was greeted by directors of the Advertising Federation of America, in conference here today, as a movement which will put new products on the market and eventually end the depression.

"The pool should relieve the tightness of money and enable producers and manufacturers to step forward with new ideas," it was said in a statement issued by the directors. "New products would bring increased buying, better employment conditions, and speeded-up production."

"The new products, backed up by advertising behind aggressive and vigorous selling, would find a ready market."

Directors attending the meeting include Gilbert T. Hodges of the New York Sun, Frank G. Huntress, San Antonio publisher, and Miss Helen Baldauf of Milwaukee.

REPORT ANOTHER DROP IN BUSINESS

Federal Reserve Bank Figures for Minnesota District Shows Decrease

Minneapolis—(AP)—Business in the ninth district during September "dropped to a lower level" the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank reported today in a summary for the district.

The bank debits index, adjusted for seasonal variations, was 61 in September as compared with the previous low point of 64 in November, 1921, it is said. The country check clearings index was 72 in September, as compared with the preceding low point of 73 in February, 1922.

"The sharp drop in business volume during September was caused largely by the full impact of the cash crop failure in the district with its resulting shrinkage in grain marketings, railroad traffic and other related declines," the report said. "The volume of bank debits showed pronounced decreases at Minneapolis and Duluth, Superior, where debits resulting from the grain movement are an important factor at this time of year."

"As compared with September, 1930, the decrease in bank debits for September, 1931 was 29 per cent and for country check clearings the decrease was 26 per cent. Other decreases as compared with the corresponding month last year were reported in postal receipts, building permits and contracts, flour and linseed product shipments, iron ore

"Freight carloadings in the first four weeks of September were also smaller than in the corresponding weeks of last year. Increase over last year's figures were reported in livestock receipts and electric power consumption in the eastern part of the district.

"Estimated cash income of farmers during September was 59 per cent smaller than in September last year, chiefly the result of greatly reduced marketings of wheat, rye and flax. Prices of all major farm products of the northwest were lower in September than in the same month last year, although the declines in durum wheat and barley were insignificant.

"The price of butter in September continued to be lower than last year's price for the same month, but the margin of reduction has been narrowed. From the summer low point to September, the price of butter has increased nine cents, as compared with an increase last year of six and one half cents from the summer low point to the peak. The autumn increase in the price of butter this year was the largest since 1927.

INAUGURATE TRAINING COURSE FOR DOMESTICS

The employment department of Appleton vocational school is inaugurating a service for women of this city, through which it is now possible to send a girl out on a job at a moment's notice, according to Miss

Mable Burke, head of the school's home-making department.

The school schedules have been so arranged as to fit into a program. Special short units of training for ordinary house duties, such as cleaning silver, approved methods of bed making, waitress training, and others are being arranged. Other short units will train girls to care for children left in their charge.

Those desiring to secure this service have been asked to call Miss Burke at the vocational school.

PEAK TRIES AN ARRANGEMENT

"DON'T be silly, Sam!" There was husky note in Peak's voice. "I've wanted you so long and so desperately, that it's nearly torn me in two. I still want you. I want you more than ever."

"You mean it? You really mean it?" She suddenly put her face in her hands. "I was terribly afraid you might have changed."

Peak said gruffly: "Don't cry. She shook her head. 'I'm not crying. I'm happy.'"

"Tell me something, Sam," said Peak gently. "Tell me why you want to marry me."

"Oh!" She looked up at him then, and her eyes filled suddenly with tears. "You mustn't think that—I won't let you! I won't let you think that I want you for what you have!"

"Of course you don't." He shook his head impatiently. "I didn't mean that. It's just that I can't see how you can possibly care for me. I tricked you."

"Oh, that!" She was startled. "Haven't you seen Freddy Munson? Didn't he tell you that he'd been down here—that he had explained?"

"Never mind about Freddy. I want to know exactly what you thought when you heard about Freddy's invention, and why you wrote me that letter."

"Must I tell you that?" She shivered.

"Tell me," he insisted gently. "All right. She drew a long breath. "It seems incredible that I should have so little faith in you. You've always been wonderful to me and I must have been crazy to think what I did when I heard about Freddy's invention."

"What did you think?"

"She spoke in a small, strained voice. "I thought that you had—I thought that you were trying to—"

"You thought that I was trying to buy you with my money, is that it?"

"Yes." She put out a pleading hand. "Please don't hate me, Peak. It was a terrible thing to think. I was dazed and I stayed dazed until Freddy told me the real answer."

"Wait a minute. Let me get this straight." His tone was almost impersonal. "You thought that I was trying to buy you and that was the reason you wrote me that letter and came down here."

"Yes."

"You despised me, and you'd have gone on despising me to the end of time, if it hadn't been for Freddy Munson."

"Yes. Freddy came down here to see me. He told me—"

"I know what Freddy told you. I know all about it."

Sam stared at him in complete astonishment. "You do?"

"Yes. Freddy came into see me after he got back to the city. He gave me the whole story."

"He did?" She gasped. "Then you knew all about it! Then there wasn't any need for my telling you and came down here."

"The lines seemed to have become deeper about Peak's mouth. He shrugged. "Because I had to know just how you felt toward me before Freddy explained. You've told me, and I know."

"But what difference does that make? I don't feel that way any more. It's all forgotten. What are you trying to get at, Peak?"

"I'm trying to say, Sam, that Freddy's version of my motives in the invention deal is entirely incorrect. It was decent of him to think of that version and more than decent of him to tell you what he thought—but at the same time, he was wrong. I didn't give Freddy the money so that you'd be free to marry Munson. Not at all."

"You didn't?" She was bewildered. "But then why—?"

"I'll tell you why," He nodded grimly. "I gave Freddy the money for precisely the reason you thought in the beginning. I was trying to buy you."

She stared. Then she shook her head calmly. "I don't believe it."

"I'm glad you don't. I wish I didn't, myself. The fact remains, however, that it's true. Freddy Munson told me that you were in love with him, and asked me to release you from your engagement to me. I wouldn't do it. Instead, I gave you money in the hope that it might make you see things differently. Just as you thought in the beginning, I tried to buy you."

Sam was silent for a time. Then she said in a tired, choked voice: "Why did you have to tell me this, Peak? Why did you have to say it? I was so—happy."

"I'm sorry. I couldn't help it." He did not move or glance in her direction. "I deceived you once, and I'm not going to do it again. You know everything now. You know that you were right when you despised me in the first place. You know that you will be right in despising me from now on. You know why I didn't react as you expected when you offered to marry me just now. You know everything."

He got to his feet and wandered down to the water's edge, where he stood kicking at the sand with the toe of his shoe. Sam did not stir. She sat where she was, with her eyes closed until Peak returned.

"Sit down," said Sam. "Please sit down."

He sat down. "Well?"

Sam said: "Are you going back to the city tonight?"

"Yes."

"I wish you wouldn't. I wish you'd stay—with me."

"You want me to stay? With you?" It was Peak's turn for astonishment. "Why?"

Sam opened her eyes and smiled. "Because I want you to stay. Because, Mr. Abbott, I love you. That's why. Is it enough?"

Peak shook his head as if to throw off the effects of a blow. He clinched his fists. He said unevenly: "You don't mean that, Sam. You don't know what you're saying."

"You think not?" She inquired calmly. "You're wrong. I know exactly what I'm saying. For the second time this afternoon I'm asking you to marry me. How about it?"

Peak stared vaguely about him at the warm April landscape. "I wonder," he inquired heavily, "if you understand a word of what I've been trying to say for the last half hour? Do you realize that I've been giving you every reason to distrust dislike, and even hate me?"

"Yes."

"Do you believe what I've been saying? You must!"

"All right. Will you marry me, or won't you?"

Peak groaned. "I've deceived you and made you unhappy, and destroyed your belief, and yet you're asking me to marry you."

"Yes."

"But it doesn't make sense!"

"It does," she smiled. "I know exactly what you mean. When you were told there by the water just now I told myself that I hated you; that I had every reason for hating you; that I wanted you to go away and never come back." She shrugged. "Then, all at once, I realized that I was lying to myself. I don't want you to go away. I want you to stay. I'll admit that it doesn't make sense, but what of it? Freddy Munson likes to say that reasons aren't important—only facts. He's absolutely right."

Peak pulled himself to his feet and stood looking down at her. "Look here," he said roughly. "Do you mean that you're willing to forget what I've done to you? That you don't care?"

"Yes. I'm willing to forget, and I don't care. As a matter of fact, I don't care if you smoke opium and rob banks. That's the state I'm in."

"And you're ready to marry me tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow?" She frowned. "What's the matter with tonight? Don't you think you could arrange it for tonight?"

"His voice was husky. 'I can try.'"

"That's good." She looked up at him. "And now? Don't you think you could arrange to kiss me—at least once?"

He sat down on the sand beside her and looked into her eyes. They were wide and dark. "I can try," he said softly, taking both her hands. "I most certainly can try."

BRING TAX EXPERT HERE FOR MEETING OF CLUBS, CHAMBER

Morris Edwards to Give Address at Conway Hotel on Evening of Oct. 28

Morris Edwards, Washington, D. C., chief of the taxation division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker at the first joint luncheon meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and service clubs at 1215 Wednesday noon, Oct. 28 at the Conway hotel. Members of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary club will take part in the program.

This month Mr. Edwards is appearing in many Wisconsin cities, including Manitowoc, Madison, Seaside, Watertown, Clintonville, Marinette, Sturgeon Bay, Neenah and Menasha, Oshkosh, Appleton, Stevens Point, Fond du Lac, West Bend, Sheboygan, Portage, Horicon, Kenosha, Waukesha, La Crosse and Eau Claire.

Long research and thousands of studies which Mr. Edwards has made of specific town and municipal tax muddles have made him one of the nation's outstanding authorities on local taxation.

The greater part of the tax burden is the local tax, and the local tax usually is the one least expertly or judiciously levied, Mr. Edwards has found. In many instances he has been able to make suggestions which lowered taxes of cities without cutting down the efficiency of municipal government.

Mr. Edwards is visiting Wisconsin at the suggestion of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, which prepared his itinerary and is arranging the meeting in the state. Mr. Edwards was one of the principal speakers at the taxation conference conducted recently by the state chamber at Milwaukee. Many municipal officials asked him to come back to enlarge on his suggestions for lowering the local tax bill.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"LIBRA"

If October 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:15 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 11:50 a. m. to 2:10 p. m., and from 6:15 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger hours are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 8:45 p. m. to 10:10 p. m.

There is evidence on October 21st, according to astrological conditions, a pessimistic atmosphere. If caution is not observed, monetary loss will result. Investments should be gone over and revised. Health conditions will not be good, especially for the middle-aged. Curious experiences will occur, especially to those who take an interest in the religious, occult or mystical side of life.

Children born on this October 21st will be cleverer with their hands than with their heads. They will be frank and outspoken, but not in the least malicious. They will, unfortunately, have jealous dispositions, and demand without always getting it, undivided affection and unremitting attention.

You, if born on October 21st, are rather a melancholy person and take life altogether too seriously. Imagining always the calamitous, never realizing that things might be worse, your lugubriousness chills conviviality strangles all that is congenial. At times, you seem to bear on your shoulders all the accumulated ills of humanity. Such an attitude deprives you of all incentive, as, in your mind you are quite content to believe that your efforts are doomed to fail. This unfortunate spirit characterizes your home life if a woman, and is ever present with you in business if a man.

You are, undoubtedly, clever — inherently so. You will have opportunities above the average. You will have those who are willing to help you. These conditions, which would conduce to another's success, will all be lost on you unless you learn to open your eyes and see that life is not as drab as you think.

Your horoscope is a dull one until you attain middle age. At that period, it becomes bright and glowing. It can, therefore, be deduced that something will then happen which will bring about a complete change in your outlook, and from then on life will be pulsating and joyous, even though there will be regrets over many distorted fancies and lost opportunities.

Inexpensive Prescription Guaranteed to End Rheumatism

Thousands Joyfully Astonished at Swift 48 Hour Relief

Progressive pharmacists will tell you that the popular big selling prescription for rheumatism right now is Ailenru — for 85 cents you can get a generous bottle from Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store or any up-to-date druggist.

You can get it with an absolute guarantee that if it doesn't stop the pain — the agony — and reduce the swelling in 48 hours — your money back.

Uric Acid Poison Starts to Leave Body in 24 Hours

Out of your joints and muscles go the uric acid deposits that cause all your suffering — it's a safe, sensible, scientific formula — free from harmful or pain deadening drugs.

The same absolute guarantee holds good for sciatica, neuritis and lumbago — quick, joyful relief — no more ailing days — it removes the cause.

CHARGES MILK DEALERS ASSESS DAIRY FARMERS

Madison — (P) — Complaints that milk checks paid to Waukesha-co dairy farmers are being discounted by Milwaukee milk dealers as contributions toward poor relief in the city of Milwaukee have been received by the department of agriculture and markets, Commissioner Joseph D. Beck said Monday.

Beck replied to one of the complaints, urging the farmers "who are being assessed illegally for poor relief or any other purpose" to get together and protest.

"I assure you that so far as I am concerned I will lend every possible aid to your efforts," he said.

GANGSTER SOUGHT IN MURDER OF RACKETEER

Chicago — (P) — County highway police Monday sought a Cicero, Ill., gangster, member of the syndicate headed by "Scarface Al" Capone, as a suspect in the slaying of Matt Kolb, northwest side racketeer and gambler.

Kolb was shot to death early yesterday in his roadhouse at Morton Grove. Police said a photograph had been recognized as that of one of the two men who killed Kolb. Officers refused to divulge the man's name.

Building Permits

One building permit was issued Saturday by John N. Welland, building inspector. It was granted to the R. G. Rowell estate, 513 E. Hancock st., one car garage, cost $75.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark

"You're gonna find out one thing, Joe—when a man gets married his money ain't his own."

START WORK SOON ON NEW AIR ROUTE

Planes Will Fly Different Course Between La Crosse and Chicago

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Within two months, the airways division of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce expects to get underway on the actual construction work on the new air mail route from Chicago to Rockford to La Crosse.

Surveys of the territory for the route have been made under the supervision of Junior Civil Engineer Morris and beacons and other instruments for lighting and equipping the La Crosse-Rockford-Chicago route have been purchased by the Department. With the completion of purchase of property and signing of real estate leases, the department will advertise for bids for construction work at the necessary intermediate fields, which will be located about 50 miles apart on the 233 mile route.

The new route is 39 miles shorter than the present route from Chicago to Milwaukee to La Crosse. Both routes will be used when the new one is ready for mail service and both will connect with routes on to the Twin Cities and with international routes at the Canadian border.

The new route, which will go as directly as possible from La Crosse to Chicago with only a deviation of about three miles for the stop at Rockford's landing field, is shown over more hazardous territory than the Chicago Milwaukee-La Crosse route. A bit of land just south-east of La Crosse is particularly dangerous. Because of this, lights will be placed at intervals leading from the route at one point to a connection with the landing field at Madison and then on west so that in times of bad weather mail can still be flown, though somewhat round about.

Sites for intermediate fields on the new route have been selected, but the exact locations are not being made public until leases are secured.

Lights along the route will be spaced about 15 miles apart. The route is part of the department's regular 1932 program, which should be completed by the end of the fiscal year 1932, June 30, 1932.

REGISTER LOBBYISTS TO REQUIRE LOBBYISTS TO REGISTER FOR SESSION

Madison — (P) — If lobbyists wish to represent interests at the special session of the state legislature which Governor LaFollette will call probably late in November they must register now, regardless of whether they had registered for the regular session, the secretary of state's office has announced. The lobby law requires that the term of all lobbyists is concluded with the filing of expenses in July.

STOCKS, BONDS PUSH FORWARD WITH NEW LIFE

New Upturns Based on Drying Up of Liquidation on Wall Street

by CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York—(P)—Both stocks and bonds pushed forward with renewed vigor today.

The drying up of liquidation during the recent period of hesitancy, and signs of renewed confidence in this market abroad, were generally regarded in brokerage and banking quarters as the basis of the new upturn.

Rails led the advance in shares in the early trading, but were soon joined by other groups. There was an average rise of about 3 points in leading issues by early afternoon. Issues up 4 to more than 6 included American Telephone and Telegraph, General Electric, Westinghouse, Pullman, and Union Pacific. A wide assortment of shares gained 2 or more, including U. S. Steel, American Can, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, North American, Westinghouse, Electric Power and Light, Stone and Webster, Union Carbide, and Du Pont. Trading was fairly lively in the morning, but quieted down after midday.

Renewed purchases of bankers' acceptances in this market by the bank of France were interpreted as indicating that the recent flurry of irresponsible rumors abroad, together with the attacks on the dollar, had subsided. International bankers expressed concern over the bank of France's request for higher interest on deposits here, saying that French funds were not needed in this market, and drawing down of the large French balances would improve the country's balance of payments.

Call money held at 28 per cent, but was available in the outside market at 3. There was scarcely any business in time money against stock exchange collateral, but the rate was pushed up 1 point to 4 per cent for all maturities. Federal Reserve balances of member banks at the reserve were again scarce, ruling at 1 to 1 of one per cent, against 1 to 1 yesterday.

In connection with the recent strength in wheat, Wall Street heard rumors of prospective arrangements to sell grain to France and Germany. These rumors also were unfavorable to the financial district, of schemes in Washington looking to a better understanding over tariffs between the United States and principal foreign consumers of American goods.

Foreign copper producers arriving in New York today for the international copper conference scheduled for later in the week, expressed themselves as sympathetic toward plans to curtail output.

The upturn in the securities markets took Wall Street somewhat by surprise, since brokers have been inclined to look for a period of quiet, and steady fluctuations. While observers were inclined to feel that there was some professional bidding up of stocks at the start, brokers said that the advance attracted a good following.

NOTE MARKED INCREASE IN U. S. GRAIN EXPORTS

Washington—(P)—Grain exports from the United States last week totaled 2,499,000 bushels compared with 2,000,000 the previous week and 1,508,000 for the corresponding week last year.

Commerce department figures today showed the amount of wheat exported last week was 2,134,000 bushels compared with 2,316,000 the previous week; barley 135,000 against 114,000; oats 94,000 against 90,000; and corn 125,000. No rye was exported either week.

Canadian grain exports from United States ports last week totaled 932,000 bushels against 592,000 for the previous week, while exports of North American wheat flour amounted to 142,000 barrels against 161,000.

50 PERCENT RISE IN SWINE RECEIPTS

Twelve Leading Markets Report Big Runs—Prices on Decline

Chicago—(P)—A 50 per cent increase in receipts of swine in 12 leading markets today, as contrasted with last Tuesday, made a price decline a foregone conclusion. The extent of the decline was settled in the first hour of trading. Sales of 200 to 250 lb. hogs at $5.20 to $5.30 and selected 250 lb. weights at $5.45 were generally 100-150 lower than Monday's average price schedule. Packers received 3,000 hogs consigned direct from outside points and 7,000 state hogs were added to the fresh supply of 26,000.

Local cattle receipts were in line with expectations, the official estimate placing the number here at 8,000. Outside demand continued broad for high-dressed offerings and a firm market was in sight. Calf supplies have become too liberal and demand for veal has not kept abreast of the stocks, resulting in lower prices.

The entire sheep run of 15,000 was on sale in the open market. Mostly 3,500-dressed offerings, but more than 8,000 head the estimated supply, which made it easy for buyers to break prices 25c-50c. They started bidding today where they left off yesterday.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
St. Paul—(P)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle, 2,200; all classes in meager supply; trade opening slow, about steady; a few small lots fed yearling held around 8.00-9.00; short feeds up to 7.50; bulk ordinary grassers 4.00-5.50; grass cows, largely 3.00-3.75; heifers 3.50-4.50; cutters fully dressed; bulk all grades 2.50-3.00; bulk mostly 3,500-dressed offerings, but more than 8,000 head the estimated supply, which made it easy for buyers to break prices 25c-50c. They started bidding today where they left off yesterday.

WARN FARMERS ABOUT NEWEST BUYING RACKET

Urge Livestock Dealers to Sell Only to Reputable Firms

Madison—Commissioner William F. Rink of the department of agriculture and markets has discovered what he claims to be a new racket to "gull money from livestock producers."

"A fraudulent stock-buyer has been working Ruskco recently visiting farmers and making large promises regarding prices and weights," the department announced. "The stranger agrees to visit the farm with a truck, haul the cattle direct to the city and have the check for payment sent direct from the commission firm."

"In all cases when the check has come, the price has been under the market, a heavy trucking charge is deducted and the weights have been inaccurate. One farmer recently received $13.27 for a 1,000 pound bull. The animal had been weighed as 885 pounds and instead of the promised price of four cents a pound, the price given was 2 1/2 cents, and the trucking charge was $8.85, leaving the total returned to the farmer as $13.27."

Commissioner Rink again warned farmers throughout the state to do business only through reputable shippers or through their own livestock shipping association in order to protect themselves from fraudulent schemes.

Wisconsin's new rulings on buying grade for eggs which went into effect Oct. 15 means a bigger and better market for Wisconsin poultry producers and better prices for quality eggs, according to A. A. Brown, poultry marketing specialist of the department of agriculture and markets.

Egg production in this state has gradually assumed the importance of a big industry, he said.

"Poultry is Wisconsin's third agricultural industry and the total value of poultry products in the state is estimated at over $50,000,000 annually."

"The new rulings specify that all eggs bought in Wisconsin must be bought according to the grades of firsts, pullet firsts and undergrades. The grades correspond with the buying requirements in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and other large eastern markets and should make Wisconsin eggs more desirable on these markets."

Advancing ten points during September, Wisconsin milk prices continued the strong upward movement of July and August, the crop reporting service of the state and federal departments of agriculture announces. The average September milk price is estimated at $1.22 per hundred weight as compared with $1.13 for August and $1.08 for July.

The nine per cent advance reported for September is nearly three times the normal increase in milk prices for that month. This ten per cent advance has been duplicated only three times during the last ten years. In spite of the recent advance, milk prices are now four per cent below 1910-14 levels. At this point, milk prices are somewhat higher than other major Wisconsin farm products.

The sharp increase in milk prices was offset by falling values for most other products so that the Wisconsin index of farm prices remains at 92, the August level. An index of 100 represents 1910-14 prices, the announcement said.

"Livestock prices, after holding up rather well for most of the year, declined eight per cent from August 15 to September 15. The break in livestock prices is accounted for principally by declines in hog prices, though most other livestock classes have also fallen in value."

"Potato prices dropped to fifty cents per bushel with the opening of the harvest period in spite of short production both in Wisconsin and the United States. Cloverseed prices averaged $8.40 per bushel as compared with $10.70 in August."

"With the exception of corn, grain prices were relatively steady during the last month, the September index remaining at 60. The September corn price averaged 50 cents, a seven cent loss from August."

Pumpkin pie, baked with honey and served with honey is one of the newest delicacies in fall cookery.

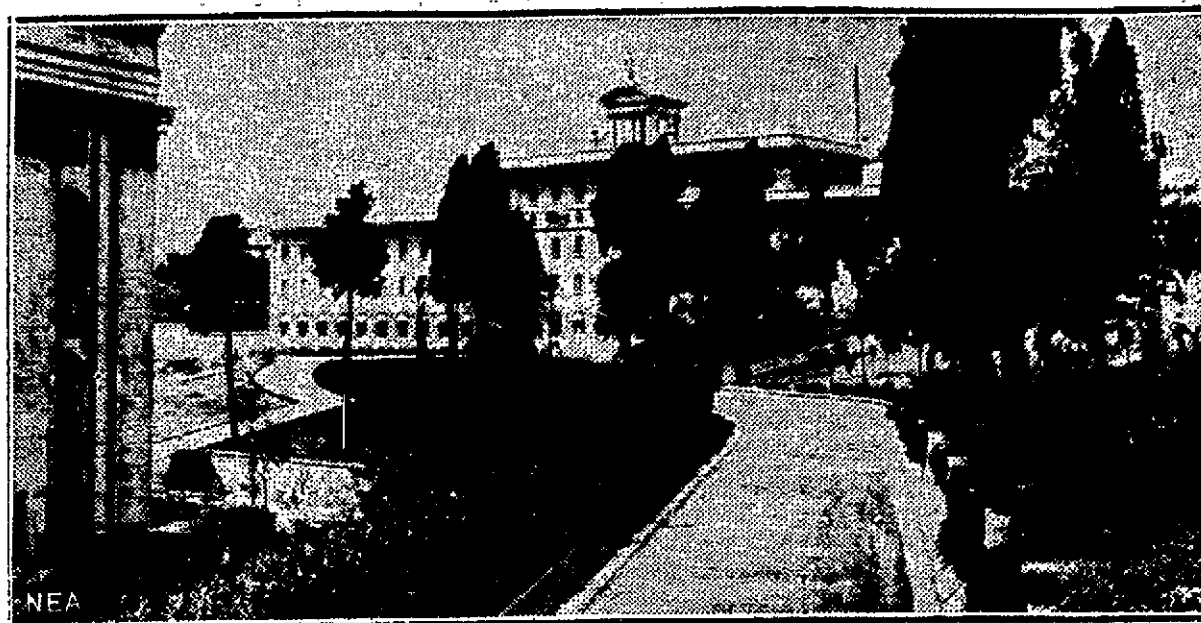

Although the Wisconsin honey crop for 1931 is one of the shortest on record due to the dry season, honey can be purchased at about pre-war prices, says James Gwin, honey marketing specialist of the department of agriculture and markets. He urges honey lovers to lay in their supply for the season at this time and to make use of nature's purest sweet for cooking purposes, especially for pumpkin pies.

While no further corn borers have been found in the state, every effort is being made to stamp out the present infestation according to state entomologist E. L. Chambers. He said a freakish habit of the borer is being made use of by state and government workers to destroy the pest. When plowed under, the corn borer refuses to stay beneath the ground and immediately crawls to the surface where it becomes an easy prey for the birds and the elements.

Endorsement of the Wisconsin Livestock Marketing Association was recently given at a meeting of the Iowa county agricultural council, meeting with the county agent and Commissioner William F. Rink of the department of agriculture and markets. With a great proportion of Iowa county livestock already being shipped through cooperatives, it is expected a large number of the local cooperatives will join the state association, Rink said.

premium by the Wisconsin Horticultural Society. H. J. Rahmlow, secretary announced that at the annual meeting of the Society at Waukesha, November 3-4, liberal premiums will go to anyone in Wisconsin who sends in a sample of five apples of a new and unnamed variety.

It was pointed out that all of the best varieties such as Wealthy, Snow, McIntosh, Delicious and many others were discovered as chance seedlings growing wild in some remote orchard. "It is entirely possible," Rahmlow said that there is now growing in this state a hardy seedling apple of even better quality than the Delicious or McIntosh. If such is the case, it would be a very valuable discovery for the apple industry of Wisconsin."

SILENCE IS GOLDEN
Memphis—The home of Nellie Bly was robbed. Willis Tuggle voluntarily came to police headquarters and offered to point out the man who robbed the home. He pointed out Leodis Hawes. After police had arrested Hawes, they thought it funny that Tuggle had picked Hawes before the news of the robbery was out. They questioned him and he finally confessed to the robbery himself.

$97,671 GIVEN TO RED CROSS BY STATE

Not Any Part of This Fund Was Spent in Wisconsin, Report Shows

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin contributed $97,671.33 to the Red Cross for its $15,589,780.19 drought relief fund, none of which has been spent in the Badger state.

According to a printed report on drought relief activities just published by the Red Cross, $5 Wisconsin Red Cross chapters collected the $97,671.33 by June 30, 1931.

Of the total drought fund for the nation, $10,589,780.19 came from public contribution, and $5,000,000 from the Red Cross treasury. Up to June 30, expenditures had totaled $10,894,835.62.

In addition to its monetary contributions, Wisconsin donated food valued at $5,025 and clothing at $234.50 to swell its charity gift with a total of $5,259.50 worth of donations.

Most of the Badger State's donated supplies went to drought sufferers in Arkansas, the hardest hit state in the union, and to Tennessee.

Contributions from neighboring states were: Minnesota, $215,412.14 collected by 39 chapters; Iowa, $109,975.94 by 130 chapters; Michigan, $233,371.04 by 79 chapters; Illinois, $388,966.04 by 117 chapters; and Indiana, $175,642.22 by 91 chapters.

The drought suffering states requiring aid from the Red Cross are, in order of necessary expenditures: Arkansas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas, Missouri, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Montana, North Carolina, Georgia, North Dakota, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Kansas, New Mexico and South Carolina.

Washington—The National Museum has just placed on display the complete skeleton of a 20-foot whale the first of its kind ever found, thought to have lived 3,000,000 years ago. It is known as the "whalebone" whale, and was found buried near Baltimore, Md.

Had Salt Rheum. Could Not Do Work of Any Kind. Cuticura Healed.

"For years I was troubled with salt rheum. It started with a terrible itching and burning on my lower limbs and then large blisters would form. My face and arms also were affected and were so sore that I could not do work of any kind or wash my hands. I could not bear any clothing to touch my arms and could not go to school. I could hardly sleep at night."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using three cakes of the Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Edgar C. Earl, 235 E. Orleans St., Otsego, Mich.

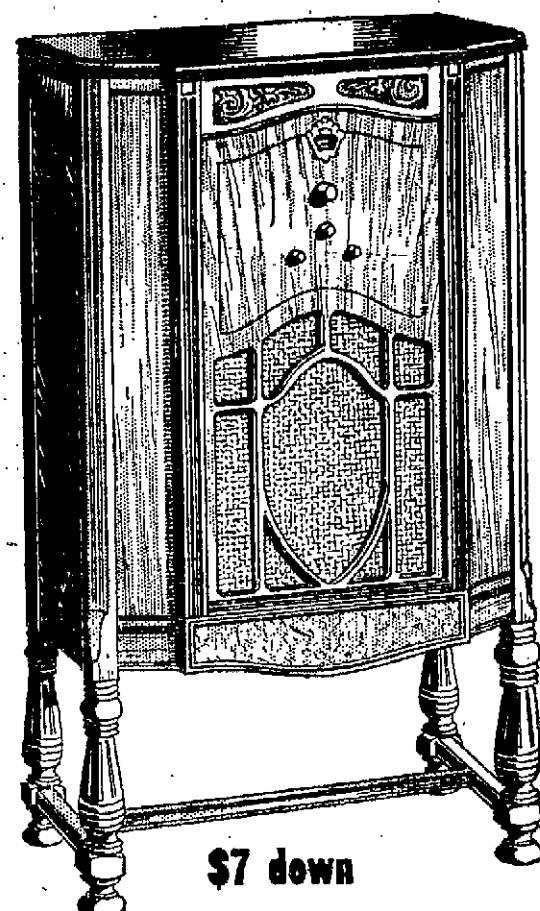

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c. and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."
